THE GOLDEN YEAR

AT PROVISO

PROVISO TOWNSHIP
HIGH SCHOOLS

Proviso East
Maywood, Illinois
Proviso West
Hillside, Illinois

Through 50 years - -

The red brick of the tower and the half-light of the rotunda symbolize Proviso East to over 3800 students. Since 1910 East traditions have grown. Fifty graduating classes have left with a unique series of experiences.

As a distinct school under the same administration, Proviso West quickly developed characteristics of its own. The familiar mural, the mall, and the shine of glass and steel stirred pride at West.

During Proviso's first fifty years, rapid changes have taken place everywhere. Skirt lengths varied, the Tucker and the Edsel came and went, the Charleston faded as the Cha Cha took over, Ethel Barrymore starred in Captain Jinx and Elvis entered the army, the bob gave away to the bubble, and knickers were traded in for bermuda shorts. While Americans fought two world wars, a depression, and prohibition, Proviso was helping to educate America's youth to preserve its values.

These fifty golden years have also brought continual change to Proviso. In the following pages the 1960 Provi staff shows our school, its growth, and the accomplishments of Proviso's anniversary year.

Tower Tells All

50th

Through fifty years of progress and improvement has come the Proviso Township High School of today. As the outstanding symbol of Proviso East, I, the Tower, have viewed this passing of history as the modern high school which exists today has evolved. From the very beginnings to the final improvements, I have seen Proviso grow and adapt itself to prepare its students to meet a changing world.

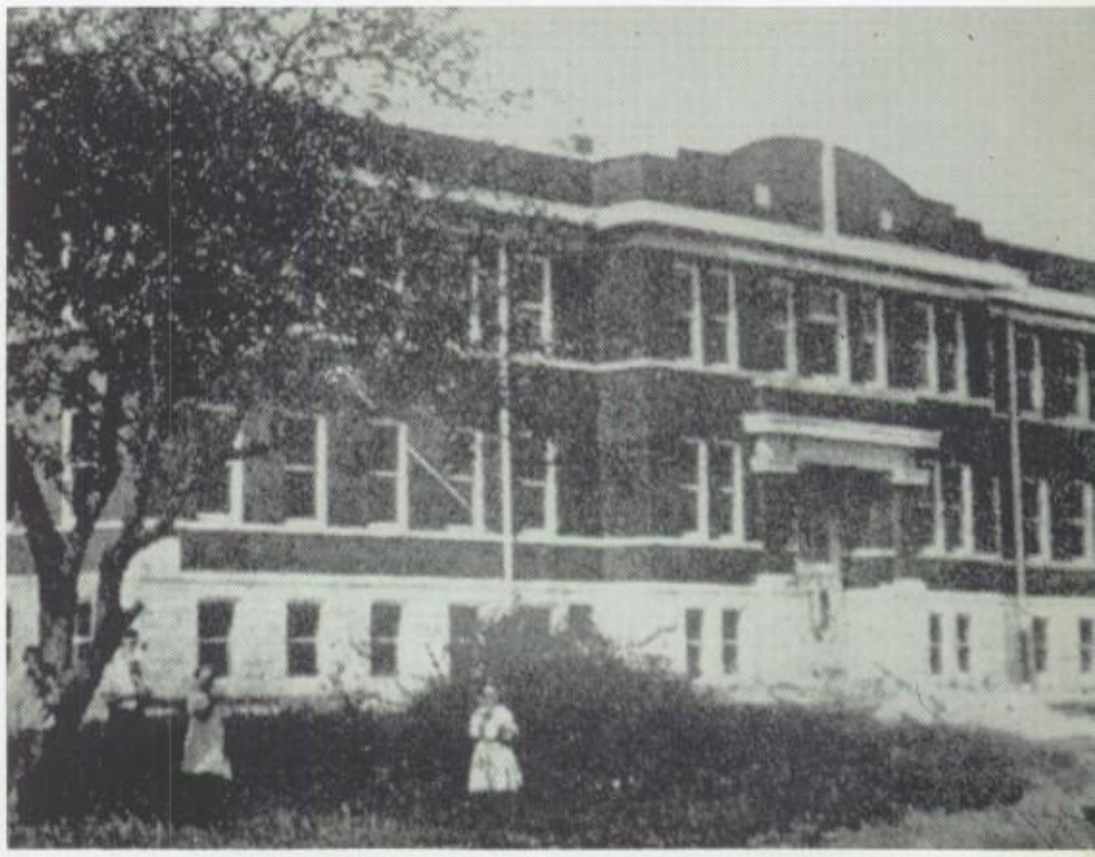
From a tiny school with 241 students under the direction of 18 teachers to the hustling community of 3,000 students supervised by 197 teachers, Proviso has clung to its motto "Nothing But the Best."

The desires of a few students, eager for the opportunity and facilities to prepare themselves for a college education, brought about the first high school building. The bond issue passed in 1911 made possible the original building, built on five acres at the corner of First Avenue and Madison Street in Maywood.

Although the first graduating class of 22 had earned their diplomas by attending classes in Emerson Grammar School, they were only able to study courses dealing with the subjects English, languages, and mathematics. The new building, composed of 21 classrooms, an auditorium, and small library, interested many students in continuing their education.

As this flow of students increased, larger facilities became necessary. Thus, in 1916 the first addition was completed, including a new auditorium, gymnasium, and several classrooms. However, Superintendents James Porter Adams and John E. Witmer, who served from 1910-1912 and 1912-1917, respectively, also provided for the enlarging of the curriculum as well as the buildings of this new school.

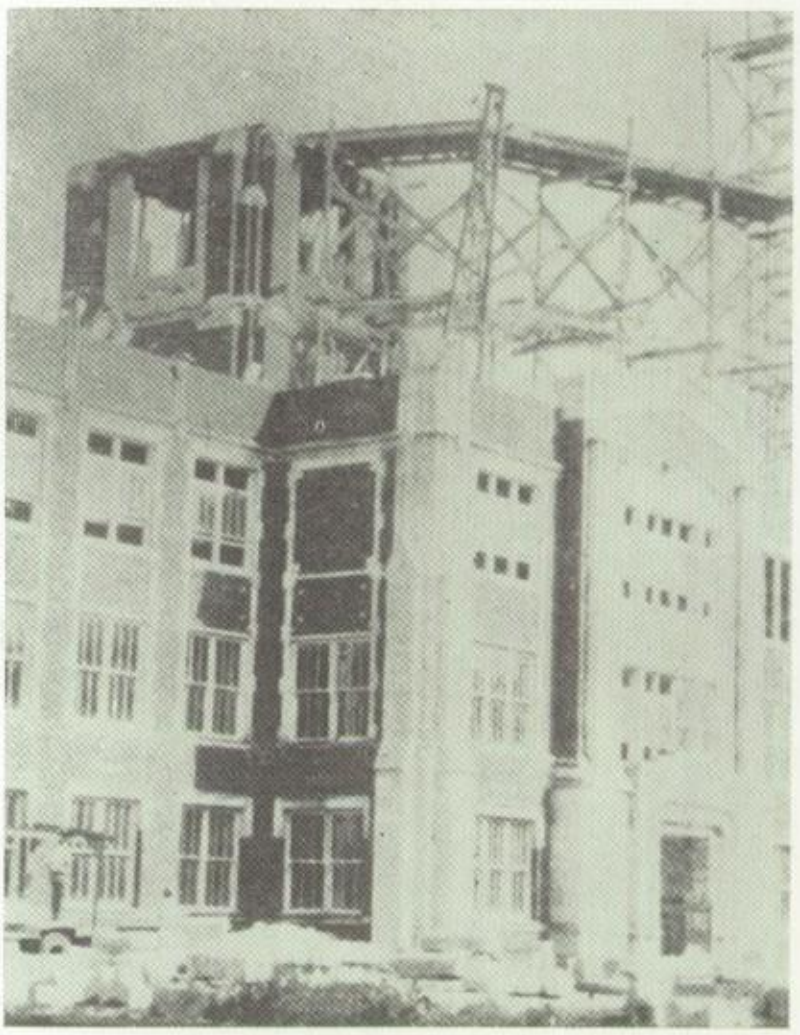
The first graduates of Proviso Township High School, the Class of 1911, earned their diplomas in this twenty-one-room building.



The need for larger quarters sends Proviso shooting up and out.

Hears Half Notes Sound

Girls, too, entered the field of athletics in 1922! They donned white middy blouses and black hose and skirts to avail themselves of their new gymnasium, built as part of the second addition. This addition also included 24 new classrooms. Under the direction of J. L. Thalman, superintendent from 1917-1927, and W. C. Robb, who served from 1927-1933, studies and activities continued to improve and adapt to the needs of present students.



Proviso's landmark, the Tower, rises majestically from the rubble.

As the trend toward a wider, more inclusive selection of studies increased, they provided vocational courses for boys and commercial studies for girls. One of these up-to-date courses was penmanship, a necessity for secretaries in 1916.

The extra-curricular activities for which Proviso is so well noted had already begun to develop at this time. Under the direction of the Music Department, the concert orchestra and glee clubs appeared. The first edition of the Provi was published in 1916 and the Pageant followed in 1919.

Proviso had made its debut into the world of athletics, too. As a charter member of both the new and old Suburban Leagues, the Pirates had established an excellent record as a fighting team of well-rounded athletes.

The last addition to the academic portion of the building, completed in 1932, saw my lofty spire rise. To complete the facilities, the cafeteria, main office, social room and several classrooms were added.

Watches Clubs, Courses Grow

Students of 1925 enjoy a lunch-time recess on the front steps. The first National Honor Society group poses for a Provi picture.

Today I overlook 112 classrooms, among these nine laboratories for physical sciences; five home economics classrooms; five typing rooms containing more than 270 typewriters; ten industrial arts shops outfitted for general shop, electricity, printing, auto mechanics, and woodworking; seven large study halls seating more than 1,150 pupils; and two swimming pools. More than 2½ miles of corridor connect these rooms, which are housed under 23,000 square feet of roof area.

Using federal funds appropriated for school buildings, Superintendent H. H. Eelkma, superintendent from 1933-1936, supervised the construction of the stadium in 1934, This concrete structure, seating 8,000, has been the scene of many programs and exciting athletic contests.

Superintendent E. R. Seifert directed the construction of the Fieldhouse in 1938. The Fieldhouse houses two gymnasiums, a swimming pool, a drill court, shower and locker rooms, offices and seats 3,000.

Organizations such as the Girls' League, Student Council, Proviso Players, Ushers' Club, National Honor Society, and the Cine Club had appeared along with others including the Scribblers, the Hi-Y's, the Latin Club, the Dial, and Mathematics Club.

With the completion of the Wood Crafts building and Memorial Hall, housing new girls' physical education facilities, the major buildings of Proviso were finished.

These modern buildings lend a contrast between the old buildings and myself. They serve to show some of the exterior changes which have taken place in these past fifty years.

Also lending a contrast is the quantity and variety of subject matter offered to each Proviso student in 1910 and in 1960. Students today may choose from 111 subjects plus music and physical education, while the student in 1910 had only 45 courses to choose from. Among the subjects available today are 12 courses in English, 16 years of study in foreign languages, and more than 20 different courses in physical education.

I see Proviso's broad athletic fields and modern gymnasiums and pools filled with boys participating in the 11 sports offered as after-school activities. Indeed, Proviso ranks as one of the top three schools in Illinois in athletics because of its varied sports program and the excellence with which its athletes perform. The trophy cases are filled with awards and plaques presented to Pirate athletes during the past fifty years of their outstanding achievements.

50th Watches West Development

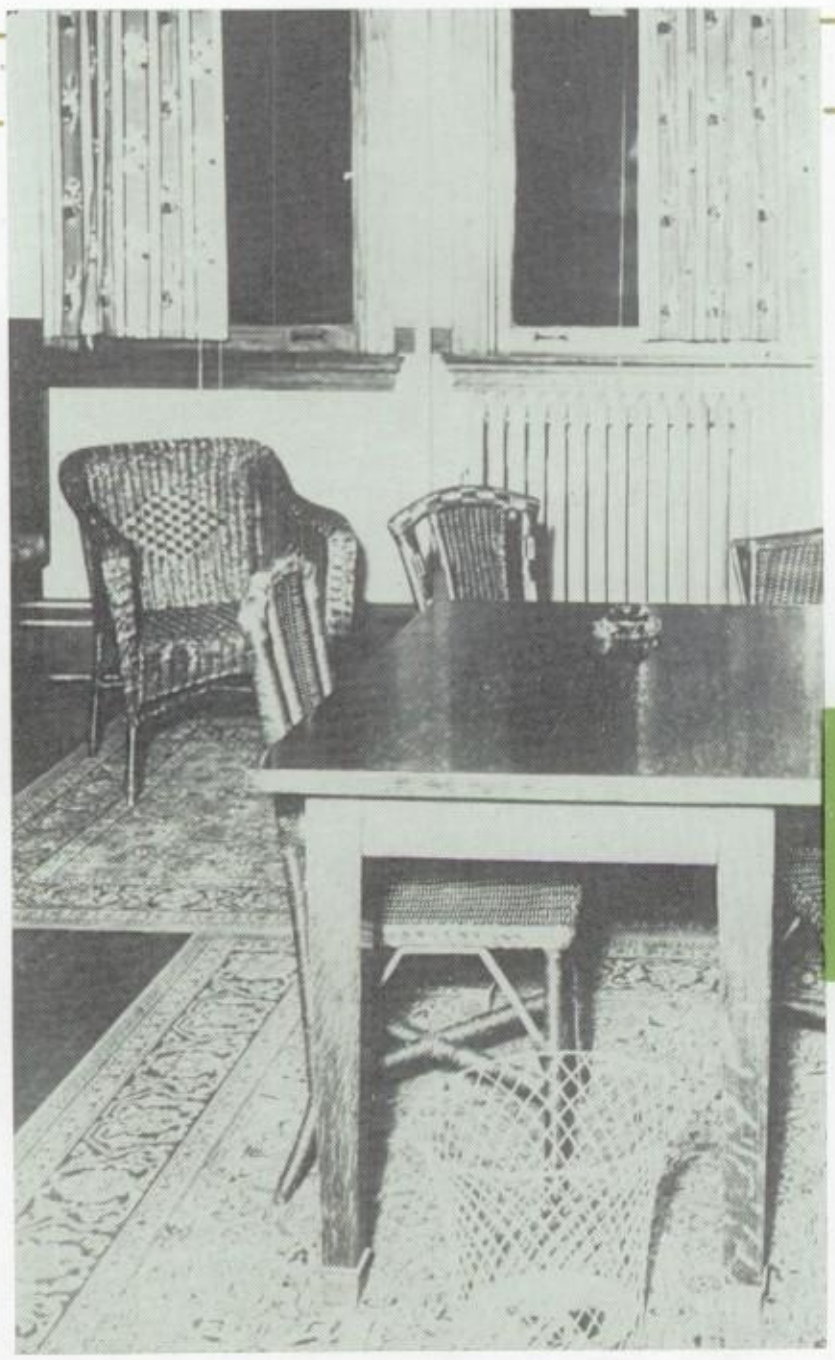
Perhaps one of the finest achievements of fifty years of progress is to be found at Proviso West High School. I look to the west and see the plans and dreams of Proviso Township's interested citizens and administrators. For after several years of study and preparation, Proviso West High School was dedicated and opened as a two-year school in September of 1958. Under the direction of Dr. LeRoy J. Knoeppel, superintendent since 1954, West is building a character of its own based on the foundation of East.

A 1930 biology class shows off its modern equipment and facilities.

Proviso West is an excellent example of a modern high school both in design and administration. Its flowing lines and mosaic mural on the outside wall of the outdoor theater exemplify a new age.

The faculty of Proviso West, composed of both teachers from Proviso East and teachers new to the township, direct the activities of 2200 students. The first graduating class in 1961 will establish Proviso West as a worthy running mate of Proviso East.



This teachers' lounge strikingly contrasts with today's facilities.

Observes PTHS For Fifty Years

Many of the extra-curricular activties which keep West students busy after school have their roots at Proviso East. However, since West is a separate school entirely, new organizations such as the Travel Club show the entrance of many new ideas.

Following in the footsteps of Proviso East, the West athletic teams have become members of a newly-formed athletic league. Their teams strive to uphold the record which Proviso East has set.

Again duplicating Proviso East, West has shown an amazing growth in its first years of existence. Plans are already underway for a new academic wing to supplement the present buildings. This rapid growth is typical of Proviso Township High Schools and of the township itself. It is ever changing and adapting to meet the needs of a growing community.

Over 24,000 graduates, $3,000,000 in building funds, and an underlying spirit for nothing but the best have been combined to reach the peak now attained in 1960.

Now I give your Proviso in its FIFTIETH YEAR!

Our Golden Year Brings A Wealth of Memories

Freshmen get smaller every year!

Sophisticated upperclassmen returned to the familiar halls and classrooms of East to find them swarming with unfamiliar students. However, our newest batch of freshies soon melted into the surging crowds. First day problems which seemed so monumental soon disappeared. The query of "Where's the Freshman counselor's office?" became "Meet me after fifth at your locker." "My locker is too full to close!" replaced "This lock just won't open. Do you think the combination is wrong?"

Upperclassmen, too, found themselves rudely awakened from summer's leisure as teachers wasted no time in getting back to the old grind.

Few of us realized the significance of 1960: the Fiftieth Anniversary of Proviso Township High School. A few of us who did only commented "I'll bet some of these teachers must have been here all fifty years . . . at least."

LENDING A HELPING HAND, Student Council information booths aid freshmen and new students to find those hidden classrooms.

. . . AND THEN TO the right. Opening a locker is easy for Beverly Jackson when Big Sister Kathy and Big Brother John lend a hand.

WONDER IF THERE'S a mistake in my program? Freshman boys happily contemplate their fate as unique members in girls' Phys. Ed.

PROVIDING A RELAXING SPOT in a bustling school, West's mall offers space for lunchtime dancing and many informal student gatherings.

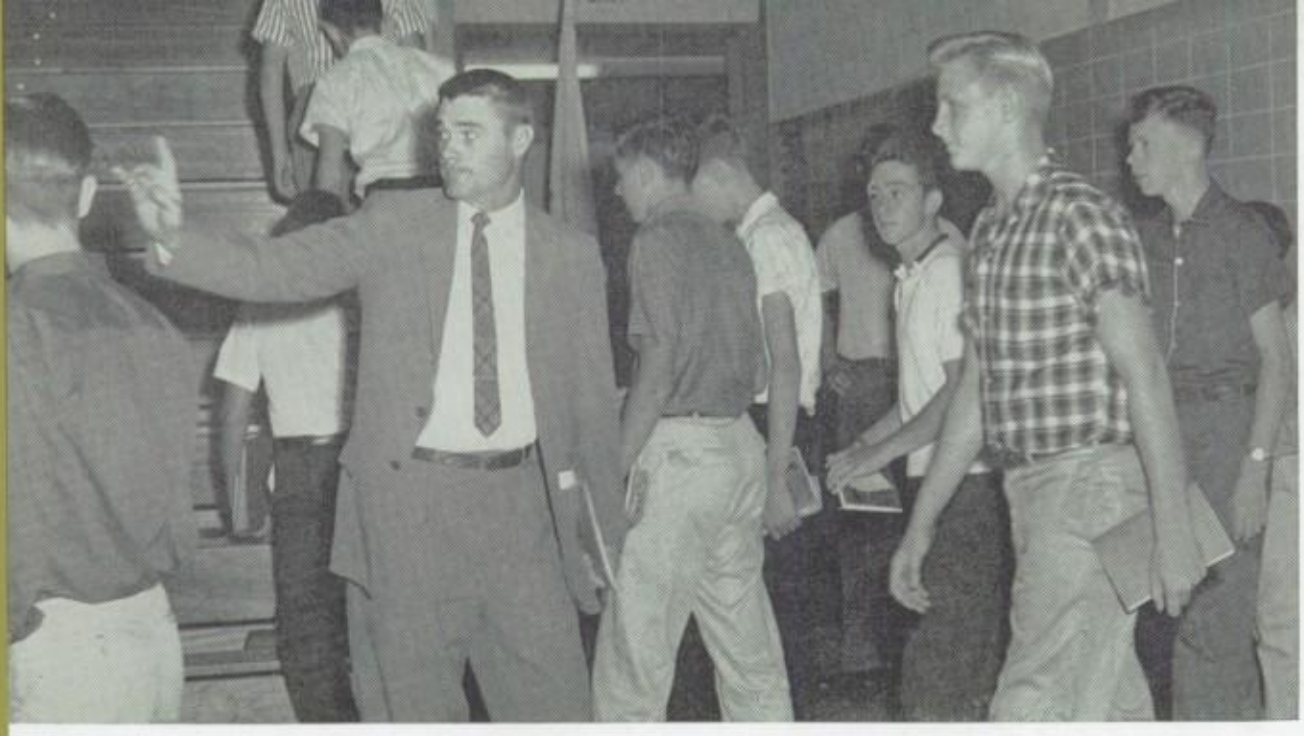
East and West Pursue Studies and Steadies

Since the freshman is such a universal creature, West had its Freshman Day problems, too. Still the "seniors," juniors directed the bewildered underclassmen around the complex wings of West. As freshmen, our guide was the Red Book as well as Big Brothers, Big Sisters, teachers, and any sympathetic by-standers.

A few bumps on the head soon taught us to dodge the swinging door of our upper locker. We also learned that one way signs do not only apply to streets.

Although the addition of a new class caused an unfamiliar bulge in our halls, the bulging pile of homework we took home every night was not in the least unfamiliar.

EXPLAINING THE MAZE of Proviso East's odd and even-numbered halls, Big Sister Sharon Korell interprets the Blue Book for freshman.



FRESHMEN, STILL CONFUSED by West's buildings and one-way stairways, seek help from Mr. Gilbert in reviewing their ABC's.

"I HAVE TO carry a stack of books that high!" bemoans this poor student as she discusses her class schedule during her lunch.

WHEET WHEW! How do you spell a wolf whistle? These boys initiated a new tradition when they donned their suits of distinction.

"NOW I REALLY feel like a senior!" boasts Sue Eddy as she proudly displays her newly-arrived class ring to Mary Ann Ardente.

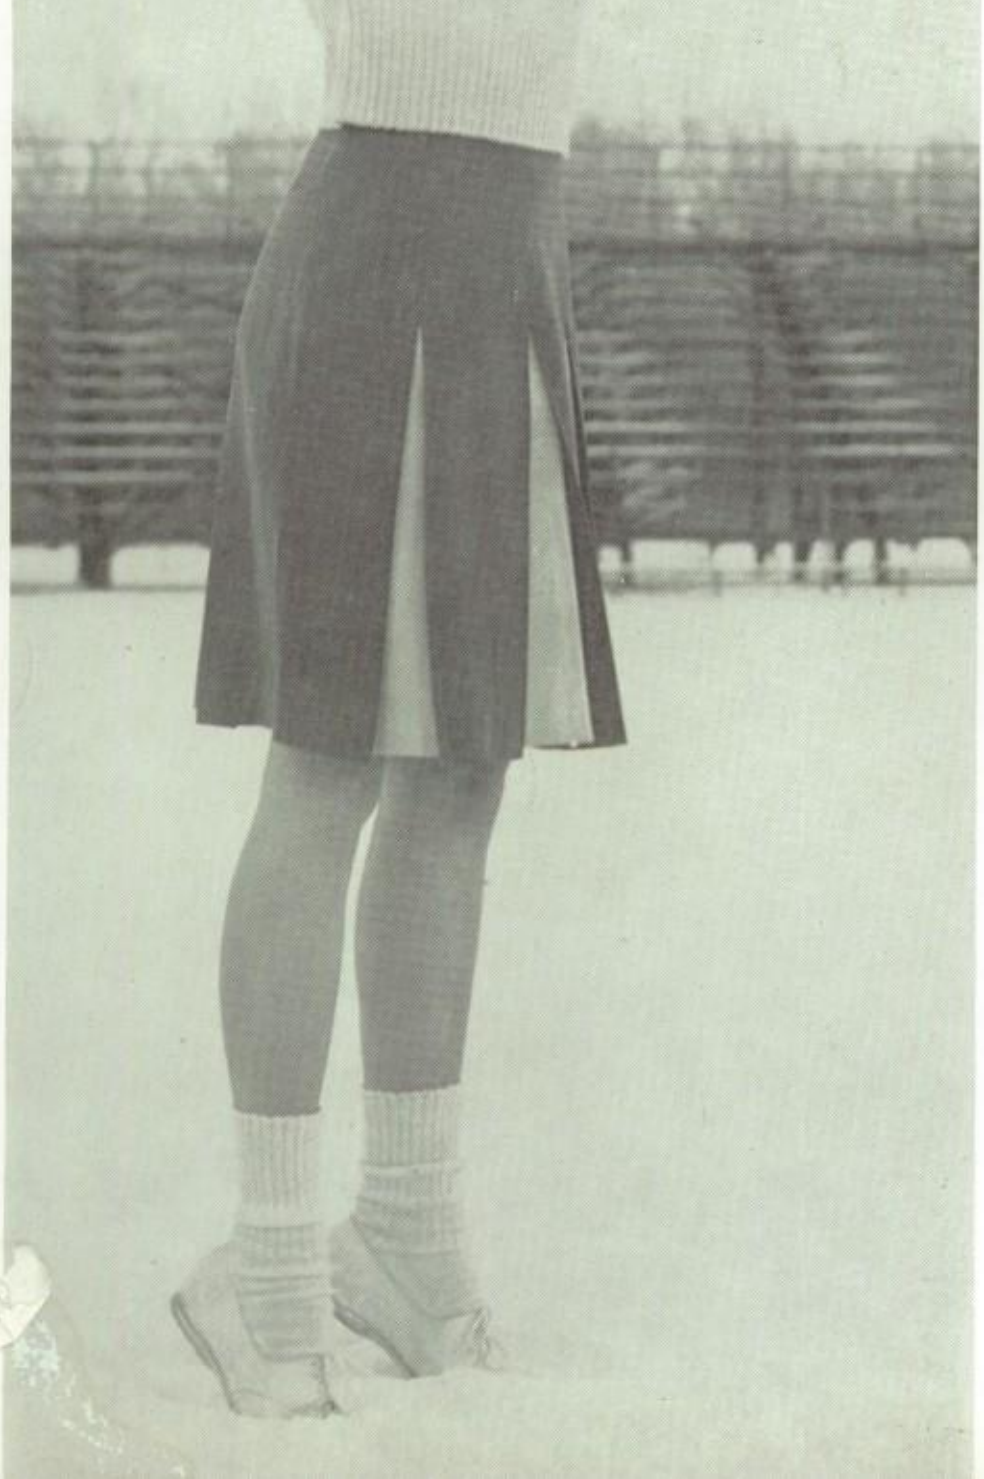
Football Sparks Panther, Pirate Spirit for a Win

The sound of shoe leather against pigskin always sends an excited ripple through the stadium. Chanting cheerleaders and swishing shake-a-roos lend static to the crisp fall air as football fever invades East and West. Football and fall become synonymous to Provisoites.

Even though both Pirate and Panther gridders came out on the short end of the win record, the thrill and excitement of a good game still drew the lusty cheers of avid fans.

Homecoming brings the height of the season at East. The gaily-decorated stadium welcomed alums to watch their alma mater vie for honors. From the traditional white mums and parade of colorful cars around the track to the last dance of the Fifth Quarter, Homecoming was a red-letter day.

WE ARE THE PIRATES! Mighty, mighty Pirates! Betty Baker leads the squad and crowd in an enthusiastic tribute to Proviso East.



VISITING NILES CHEERLEADERS take a bow at the pep assembly, Zero Quarter, which launched this year's Homecoming festivities.

PROVISOITES URGE Lou Sciortino on as he intercepts a Trojan pass and races 72 yards to put the Pirates ahead in the third quarter.

OLE! HIGH-STEPPING band members from East and West enter the arena to present a mock bull fight during half-time maneuvers.

PIRATE GRID MEN leave the field to the echoing cheers of the jubilant crowd after matching Niles 13-13 for Homecoming spoils.

PIRATE COACH Andy Puplis accepts and offers congratulations to Niles coaches after the finish of a hard-fought encounter.

AS THE CLOCK ticks off the last seconds of the Fifth Quarter, Provisoites both past and present, whirl to "Goodnight Sweetheart."

Plays, Prom, Court Life Pep Up Old Man Winter

Yea! Seniors! Yea! Juniors!

The annual Junior-Senior game bounced the Pirates into a lively winter season. Adding another feather to its cap, the Class of '60 claimed its second title as champs of the contest. West, too, entered basketball with a burst of enthusiasm. In their first season in the newly-formed Interim League, the Panthers plunged into "court" life.

Starry-eyed juniors whirled to a "Rhapsody in Blue" as November brought their first prom. Student Council put a new twist into Fun Nights by presenting Disk Jockey Milo Hamilton. "Seven Sisters" invaded East as talented thespians brought chuckles of delight from amused audiences. West dramatists high-lighted the scene with their theatrics.

A long winter vacation lay ahead following the short Thanksgiving recess. Even finals did not dim that prospect!

WHEN DID we study this? seems to be the query of Senior Joan Jakawich as she settles down with a good supply of midnight oil to cram.

BUT WHERE else could he put them? Mrs. Peterson seems astonished at the strange contents of this locker and the problem that it poses.

SPEAKING of spit and polish! Keeping Proviso's sports trophies shining brightly provides quite a job for cheerleaders Betsy and Peg.

SWEET SIXTEEN and...a sugar-lump corsage! Mary Ann Ruge, beaming happily, gazes admiringly at her traditional birthday surprise.

LADY LUCK in the form of Ruth Thumberger presents Valentine Queen Gay Tamm and her consort Bill Caldwell with emblems of their reign.

PTHSers Whirl From Exams to Elite Eight

Breathing a sigh of relief, we put all thoughts of exams out of mind until June. Student Councils lulled us into a dreamy mood with "Hearts in Heaven" and "Knights of Hearts."

We were saddened at the death of Mrs. Alma Knoeppel on February 17. She was attending the annual meeting of the American Association of School Administrators in Atlantic City, New Jersey.

Provisoites lent national charities a helping hand by Charity Week campaigns. West PTA sponsored the Mardi Gras and Panthers hosted the Music Festival featuring East and West groups with Oak Park songsters as guests. After chewing their fingernails to the elbow, East seniors received notification of their election to NHS. Close on the heels of the West variety show, Girls' League decked us out in bows. Modern dancers at East whirled us into dance late in March.

The snow kept falling and so did Pirate foes as the cagers worked their way to a Sweet Sixteen spot in the IHSA, the first in 24 years. As a final triumph, the team traveled downstate to Huff Gymnasium and performed in the Elite Eight tourney. East's cheerleaders copped the title of All-State Cheerleaders for precision and go-go-go spirit.

CHAMPAIGN, WE'RE ON our way! Co-captains Ron (Yogi Bear) Buchanan and Dave (Big Kwi) Kwiatkowski eye newly-won sectional trophy.

THOUGH THEIR HEARTS are in heaven, these boys need a cool drink of punch to quench their earthly thirst at West's Valentine dance.

IN "MISTY" ENCHANTMENT, John De Ano and Karen Ivins pause in their dancing to gaze at prom decorations in West's gymnasium and mall.

Spring Fever Descends With Moxie, Term Paper

March roared in like a lion and kept right on into April. Perhaps he was roaring with laughter as he watched us stomp moxies at the Key Club abstract dance. A hint of spring finally appeared as West hosted the Chicago Badminton Club finals. Leotards and pleated skirts disappeared and so did sweater vests and crew neck sweaters. The strains of "Theme from a Summer Place" echoed as the last drops of snow melted and spring vacation — and term paper deadlines — drew nearer and nearer.

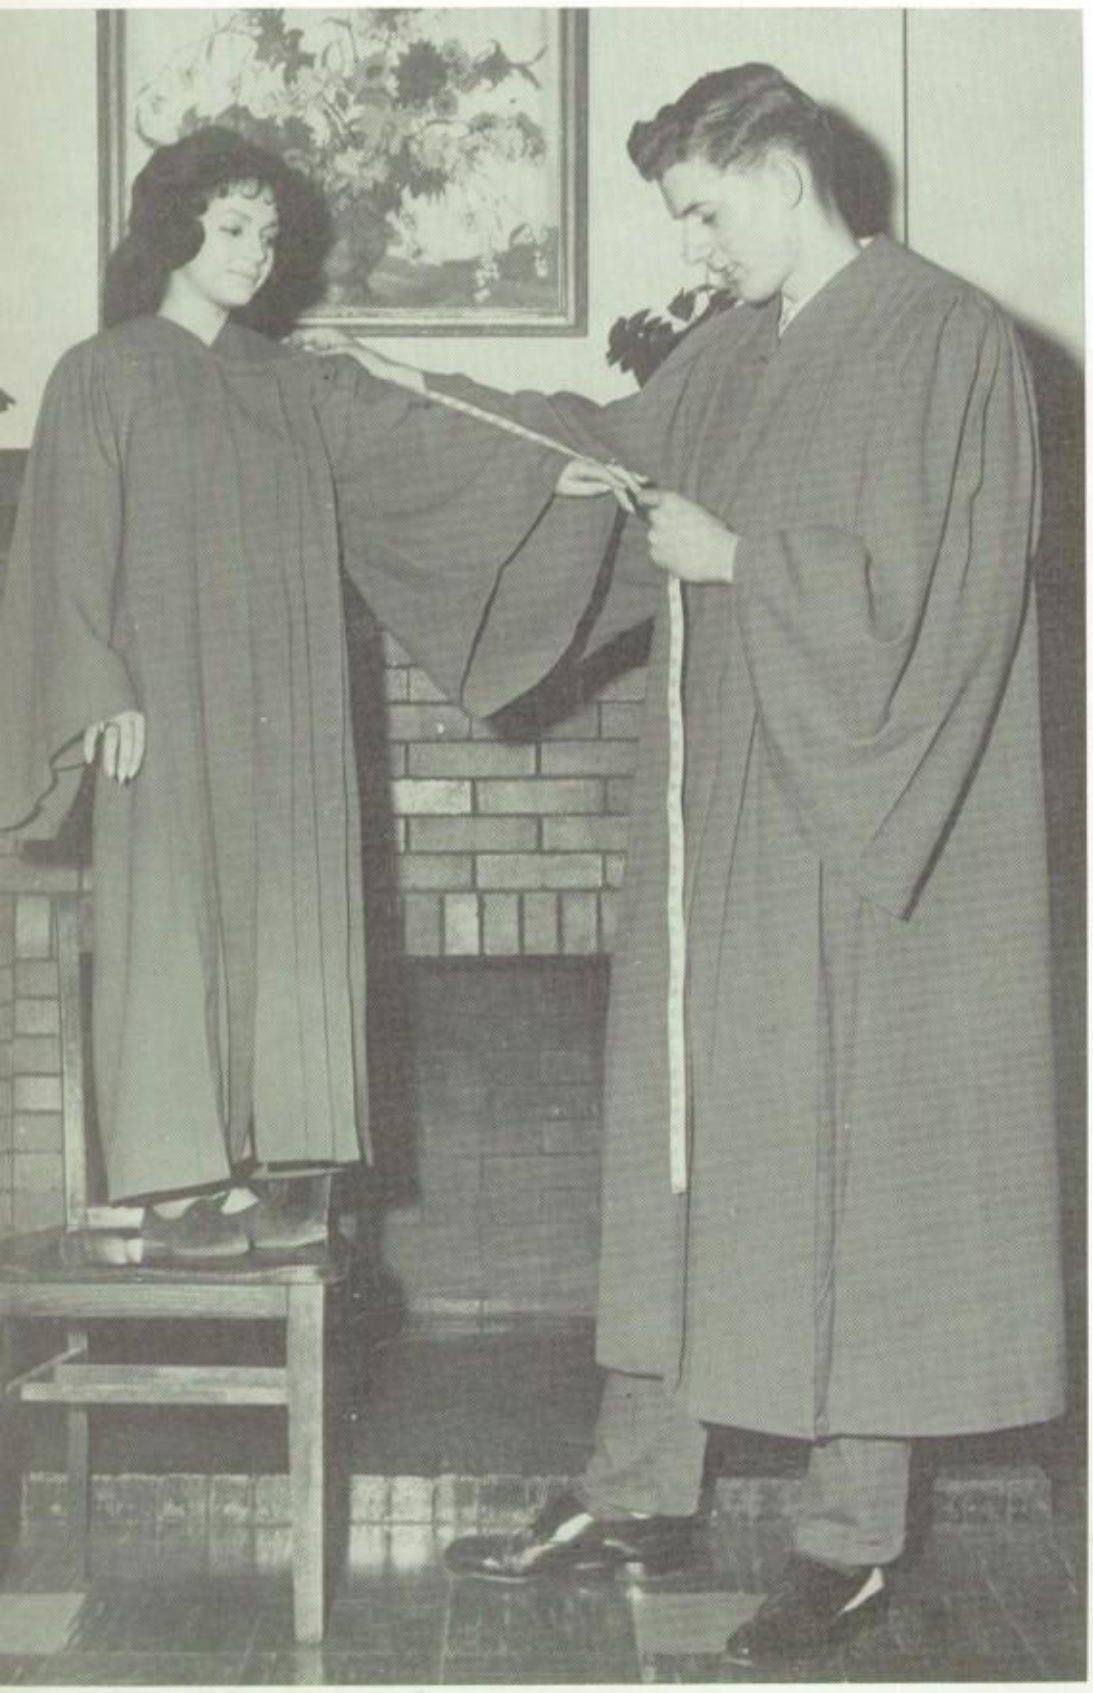
NHS entertained Syd Harris and Girls' League began the long list of farewells to Seniors. Newly-elected officers for '61 anxiously awaited their chance to rule the roost while seniors wondered where the past four years had gone. Incoming freshmen crowded both buildings one Saturday to get their first view of an exciting new world. We fought our way through halls of billowing petticoats and gazed longingly out the window. Spring fever, en masse!

East's Variety Show reviewed the past fifty years. Both Student Councils reluctantly relinquished their posts to eager underclassmen. The shouts of "Slide, slugger" and "Love-15" bounced back and forth as Pirate athletes headed for the great outdoors.

The soft swish of fluffy formals and the starchy scratch of shirt collars meant that prom time had arrived. Seniors and their guests put their best feet forward at "Misty" and then set off the next morning for picnics and an early dip.

SMACK! SENDING ANOTHER homer smashing into right field, Dave Kwiatkowski ushers in the great American pastime at Proviso East.

WITH TRADITIONAL SONG and daisy chain, Girls' League introduces the "flowers" of the new Girls' League Board in the annual assembly.



THE LONG AND the short of it! Dave Schneider makes a final check on the fit of Phyllis Perna's new blue-and-white graduation gown.

"GIVE HIM THE ax!" Continuing tradition, Senior Class President Jake Moelk gives the ribbon-decked ax to Junior Prexy Joe Mascetti.

Seniors Stumble Through Pomp and Circumstance

"We can't be having finals already!"

Dragging out the midnight oil, we vowed to start our reviewing early this time, but the days slipped by all too quickly. The rush of Fiftieth Anniversary teas, award banquets, club picnics, and senior farewell parties kept the days speeding by. Locker cleaning brought the scramble to clear out that pile of accumulated Pageants, gym clothes, and overdue library books. Autographing Provis — issued early for the first time in fifty years — took many of our spare moments. Seniors finally made the big decision about college while underclassmen planned another year in familiar halls.

The endless step, step, step of marching practice preceded the final performance at Class Day and graduation. The hysterical antics of seniors' special lunch subsided as the strains of "Pomp and Circumstance" began rehearsals. Staying with tradition, seniors added their white and gold colors to the ax. Breaking tradition, they voted to hold commencement outside. The sudden upswing in the sales of the Old Farmer's Almanac showed concern for the weather forecast of June 14. With watery eyes and sniffling voices, seniors clutched diplomas and bid good-bye to friends and teachers.

"MEET ME AT Fifth for a coke after school" rings the familiar call through the spring air at the close of a busy day and a golden year.

BEGINNING THE "LAST mile," seniors head for the track to claim their diplomas after long hours of never-ceasing marching practice.

These are the things we remember when we think of this year at Proviso East.

Board of Education Sets Policy for Two Schools

Two doctors, a draftsman, and a former employee of the Atomic Program in Oak Ridge, Tennessee, are among the eight members of the Board of Education who formulate school policy, plan expansion, and handle the multitude of problems arising in the operation of a two-school program. All board members have attended college and are well-equipped by the diversity of their backgrounds to handle the variety of problems which they face.

Improvements proposed by the board for East this year include a better PA system and a cross walk. At West the board plans to construct a stadium, a track, and a baseball diamond. To meet the increased enrollment, another academic wing will be necessary at the new school very soon.

DR. SENO, President of the Board of Education, scans the agenda in preparation for the meeting.

MEMBERS OF THE BOARD of Education, seated: Mr. Neal J. Gillis, Mr. Ralph J. Gust, Business Manager Hattie N. Haupt, Dr. Louis Seno, Mr. Fred E. Meyer, and Dr. Leroy J. Knoeppel. STANDING: Attorney Louis Ancel, Mr. Robert A. Young, Dr. Ralph Barton and Mr. Sallust J. DeRose listen to Dr. Seno's explanation of a new board plan.

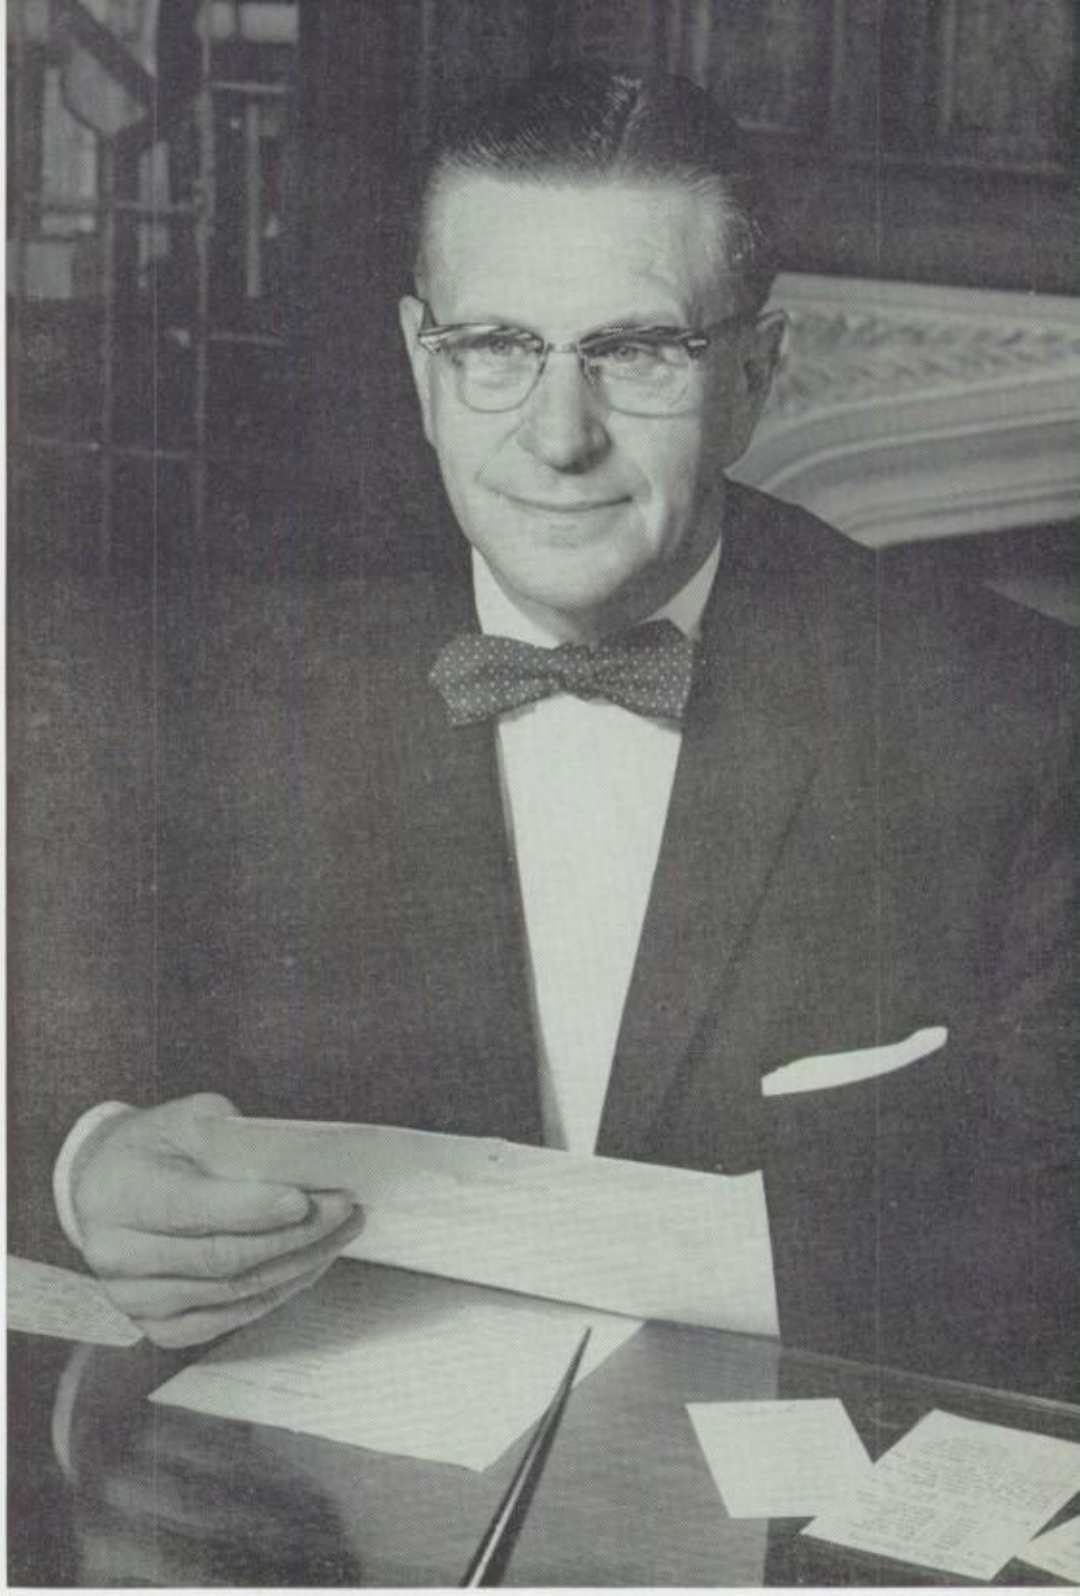
Superintendent K. Gets Recognition

Dr. Leroy J. Knoeppel may have thought he could sit back and watch the two schools in operation this year, but a fiftieth anniversary at East and more construction at West shattered this dream. Running two schools still presents problems even though the first obstacles have been overcome.

Carthage College honored Mr. Knoeppel with a Doctor of Laws this year. Mr. Knoeppel had earned his Bachelor of Arts degree there. He received his MA from the University of Iowa.

Fifty years of meeting the educational needs of a growing community has made Proviso one of the leading comprehensive high schools in the nation. Since 1910 the physical plant and the curriculum have been under constant development and expansion.

"The next fifty years, with the inception of Proviso West, will bring to Proviso township, its students, and parents two schools that will continue the fine tradition of achievement characteristic of Proviso," comments Dr. Knoeppel.



REVIEWING the accomplishments of the past 50 years at Proviso, Dr. Knoeppel visualizes future.

DR. KNOEPPEL, superintendent of Proviso High Schools, leaves his office on one of his many trips to West.

ALWAYS READY to give her time to school projects, Mrs. Freida Zochert, Dr. Knoeppel's secretary, takes time out from her transcribing. Mrs. Zochert attended Lewis Institute and was graduated from Bryant and Stratton Secretarial School. Mrs. Zochert has been the superintendent's right hand for thirteen years.

Proviso East Principal

"If Proviso's growth and improvement continues at the same rate during the next 50 years, Proviso will continue to be a school worthy of our pride," comments Mr. Charles C. Holt genially.

Arriving at school early, he meets everyone with a cordial greeting. He has a remarkable memory for names and faces and frequently stops in the hall to chat with students and teachers.

Mr. Holt, who now acts as principal and assistant superintendent at Proviso East, earned his Bachelor of Science degree from Southeast Missouri State College, his Master's degree from the University of Illinois and is completing his Doctor's degree there.

His deep interest in education is evidenced by his position as President of the Illinois Association of Secondary School Principals.

On February 1, Mr. Holt left Proviso for eight months to act as Director of the Joint Testing Program in Washington, D.C. This national commission was appointed to study the use of aptitude and achievement tests in American schools. In October Mr. Holt will return to Proviso East again.

PRINCIPAL HOLT GREETS pupils and teachers alike with his friendly smile.

ARRIVING EARLY in the morning, Mr. Holt gets ready for another busy day at East.

Dean of Students

Student discipline and the administration of students' affairs constitute the chief duties of Dr. Leslie Remley, Dean of Students at Proviso East. Twenty-nine years of service to Proviso has given this Dean a broad background in these fields.

Dr. Remley arrived at Proviso in 1931 when he began his duties as a science teacher. In 1938 he headed the Physical Education Department as Director of Athletics. In 1957 he was named to his present position as Dean of Students. Dr. Remley received his bachelor of arts degree at Wabash College and his Ph.D. at the University of Iowa.

The Boy Scouts of America in the Proviso District take much of Dr. Remley's spare time as he serves as chairman of the Boy Scouts Advancement Committee. His hours away from school affairs and his office in Room 101 also involve Rotary Club meetings where he claims board membership. During the second semester Dr. Remley took over Mr. Holt's job while he was on leave, and S. O. Storby became Dean.

ADVISING STUDENTS and handling discipilinary problems give Dr. Remley a close understanding of boys' and girls' difficulties at East.

Administrative Assistant

College problems? Friendly advice is always available from administrative assistant, Miss Virginia Terhune. As chairman of the College Committe and head of the College Day Program, Miss Terhune offers help to interested students.

In connection with these duties, Miss Terhune toured 14 colleges and universities in the East during the fall, and various Midwestern schools throughout the year.

Miss Terhune efficiently handles such varied problems as enrollment, summer school, office personnel, bulletin boards, students' permanent records, and the daily bulletins.

After earning her BA at Illinois College in Jacksonville, Miss Terhune received her Master's degree in mathematics at the University of Michigan. She has also done graduate work at the Universities of Illinois and of Indiana.

In addition to her other activities, Miss Terhune represents the large high schools on a committee of three appointed by the Illinois Association of Secondary School Principals. The committee studied possibilities of standardizing school record forms from schools of different sizes in the state.

NO MATTER HOW PRESSING her duties, Miss Terhune has time to help a college-bound student with enrollment and scholarship problems.

Secretaries

MRS. AGNES SMITH, book room secretary keeps records of all books charged to teachers.

MAIN OFFICE SECRETARIES—SEATED: Mrs. Elvera Pearson, Miss Donna Johnson, Mrs. Joan Keating. STANDING: Mrs. Myrtle Hagen, Mrs. Mildred Rezabek, Mrs. Winifred Jones, and Miss Sandra Searcy.

A staff of 22 secretaries take care of Proviso's paper work in the Main Office, Counselors' Office, Library, Attendance Offices, and the Departmental Secretarial Pool. Since the attendance system has been separated from the counselor's offices, a secretary has been assigned to each of the boys' and girls' attendance offices.

Another rearrangement of duties took place with the four secretaries in the secretarial pool. Formerly, the secretaries were assigned to particular departments, but this year the department chairmen brought their work to the pool in order to facilitate the execution of the tasks by available secretaries.

In the Main Office seven secretaries compose the school hub. Mrs. Rezabew, as office coordinator, has charge of the secretarial pool assignments, enrollment, withdrawals, re-entries, attendance data, and diplomas. As Miss Terhune's secretary, Mrs. Pearson keeps a record of supplies and requisitions, types daily bulletins, and does all the photostating.

Students needing working permits and certificates of age see Mrs. Myrtle Hagen who sits amid a jungle of criss-crossing wires at the telephone switchboard. One of her jobs is to poll graduates by postcard to complete the senior survey of the actual jobs or colleges of recent graduates. After she tabulates the results, they are published in the Pageant. Mrs. Joan Keating is in charge of the mimeo room.

The girl in charge of elegibilities for various organizations, athletics, and curriculum transfers is Miss Sandra Searcy. Responsible for junior and senior averages, ranks in class, NHS list, and College Day isMrs. Winifred Jones who also acts as the secretary to Principal Charles C. Holt.

SECRETARIAL DEPARTMENT: Margaret Johnson, attendance clerk; Lorelei O'Neill, secretarial pool; Rose Bernhardt, secretary in English Department; Geneva Gustafson, library secretary; Marge Kremek, secretarial pool; Nancy Mortenson, secretarial pool; Pat Surges, library secretary; Beatris Puryear, secretarial pool; Lois Johnson, Library secretary; Ethel Lindman, secretary in girl's counselling; Mary Witt, attendance clerk; and Betty Pardun, PE department secretary.

Cafeteria Dishes Out Service and Smiles

A smile and maybe an extra dip of ice cream greet eight hundred sudents in each of Proviso's five lunch periods.

Mrs. Bailey, supervisor of the Proviso East cafeteria staff, can testify to the satisfied expressions registered on students' faces. Their expressions may be due to pizza, one of the new dishes offered this year.

Mrs. Accardi, who handles the lunch programs at both schools, agrees that the traditional turkey dinner sparks the Thanksgiving holiday for students and teachers alike.

Pushing his rounds through ten and a half miles of hallways each night may give the watchman at East flat feet, but he loyally checks the entire building. He holds one of the jobs assigned to Proviso's maintenance department. Like him, every other member has a special list of duties ranging from checking broken locks to catching prowlers.

Two crews compose the department, one working during the day and one at night. Each has its own head. Besides keeping the grounds clean, squeegee-ing third story windows, and other routine jobs, the 41-man crew has formed a do-it-yourself fire department.

Maintenance men also operate the laundry and boiler room while matrons see that towels are taken to gym classes.

Teachers, Like Students, Succumb to Daily Rush

Proviso East teachers have the same problems as students — they rush to school in the morning, stop to chat with friends, get hungry before fifth period lunch, race to get to a study hall at the other end of the building, stay after school, and drag home a huge stack of books and papers — if you really check, they're human, too.

Although they may seem inhuman at times with those long assignments and frequent tests, students begin to appreciate how much they help — through their knowledge, skill, and comprehensive understanding of a student's problems.

WHAT A SUMMER that must have been! Teachers swap stories on their first day back to school from an all-too-short summer vacation.

LIKE STUDENTS they stop to chat as they pick up the bulletin.

THOSE LAST MINUTE morning trips to the main office keep the secretaries hopping.

SEPTEMBER 8 FINDS teachers and administrators joining the line for a cool drink of punch.

Proviso Faculty Sponsor, Guide, Advise Students

Leading approximately four thousand students, Proviso East's 167 well-trained faculty members boast 127 masters degrees and three doctors degrees.

While Proviso's golden years have increased the faculty from 18 in 1910 to the 250's, the opening of West last year cut the faculty to 187 last year and 167 this year.

Offering more than 111 courses in 14 different departments, Proviso has a staff that ranks her high in academic ratings. A long list of courses is worthless without a well-trained, congenial faculty to carry it through.

Teachers taught students in 14 different curricula, and gave tests periodically to check student mastery of the subject. They also kept parents informed through conferences at PTA meetings and notices of student progress. A teacher's work was never done. After the school day teachers sponsored extra-curricular activities or performed other duties.

NO MATTER how pressing their duties, teachers like to chat before going to their morning classes.

COFFEE HOURS are always popular as is the one the social committees plan for the faculties of both schools just before Christmas.

Teachers Make Study Of Staff Utilization

For completing 25 years of teaching at Proviso, four teachers, Mr. Otto Bolt, Mr. J. W. Hinds, Mr. Martin Finstad, and Dr. Edison Kochenderfer were presented gold watches at the faculty-board dinner in the fall.

In addition to classroom teaching, teachers give many hours to work on civic, state, and national committees. Mathematics teachers are experimenting with a new program sponsored by the National Commission on Mathematics. Language teachers are making a study of the use of the language laboratory and making plans to get the most from their proposed laboratory.

English teachers prepared for publication the design for all courses throughout the English department as a part of the township articulation project. Many teachers throughout the system are studying new curriculum trends, particularly the possibilities of team teaching in the staff utilization program. Some teachers worked with the Citizens Committee and PTA, while others aided in community projects.

PROVING THAT an English teacher's work is never done, Miss Ruth Schmidt works after school checking note cards for research papers.

Sudden Death Takes Two Proviso Teachers

Proviso teachers were shocked on the first day of school to learn of the death of Miss Mary Joyner, English instructor, and again on October 18 with the sudden death of Mr. John Carr, industrial arts.

Miss Joyner, who had been a member of the English department for 13 years, died apparently from accidental electrocution. Mr. Carr died suddenly of a heart attack. The following tributes were paid these two teachers by Dr. Knoeppel, the faculty, and the students:

Proviso will remember Miss Mary Elizabeth Joyner as a dedicated teacher. Her thoughts and constant efforts were geared to the improvement of teaching and guidance of students, to the development of the school, and to the help and encouragement of her fellow teachers. As a teacher, she respected the rights of others. She extended, beyond the normal expectation, a willingness to do a good job better.

Mr. John Carr, an excellent teacher, stood for idealism. Mr. Carr's instructional methods proved beyond a doubt that he was interested in developing youth to the highest degree of accuracy, competency, and a willingness to do a better than average piece of work. Students and faculty alike respected Mr. Carr for the many characteristics of strength he exemplified in his daily classroom teaching.

English Courses Form Basis for Education

Proviso English teachers struggled with blackboards as their only equipment fifty years ago. Today, teachers enjoy the use of classroom libraries, magazines, dictionaries, maps, records, tape recorders, public address system, opaque projectors, filmstrips, and movies. Movable desks permit group discussions , and pastel walls lend attractiveness to rooms.

The English department has changed in other ways, too. Beginning with an enrollment of only 237 students, and a staff of two teachers, the English department offered only a four-year program of basic courses. Now the department includes 32 teachers and offers 18 courses, ranging from speech, drama, creative and news writing to secretarial English.

Leading the progressive educational movement at Proviso, the English department was the first to offer classroom libraries and also the first to group students by ability, beginning this arrangement in 1924, on all class levels.

To Split or Not to Split That Is the Infinitive!

Previous to 1944, the English cabinet, a group of selected honor students, carried out a program of emphasizing good English throughout the school. Teachers from all departments reported to the cabinet members the names of students using slovenly English. The cabinet members then reported these students to their English teachers, who in turn lowered the students' English grades. If a student persisted in using poor English he was tried by a "court" of the cabinet.

Though its methods of teaching have changed in the past fifty years, the aims of the English department remain the same. The department strives to help the student to understand himself and others better through an appreciation and enjoyment of great literature. It also aims to give him confidence in expressing himself more lucidly and forcefully.

Students Find Peace in Oasis of Books

Increase a library of 2360 books to one of 24,000 volumes! They said it couldn't be done. But Proviso did it!

Proviso's greatest growth in the last fifty years took place in the library. Beginning with a classroom equipped with 3077 books and one librarian, the library moved from the second floor to the first in the old building and finally to its present location in 1929.

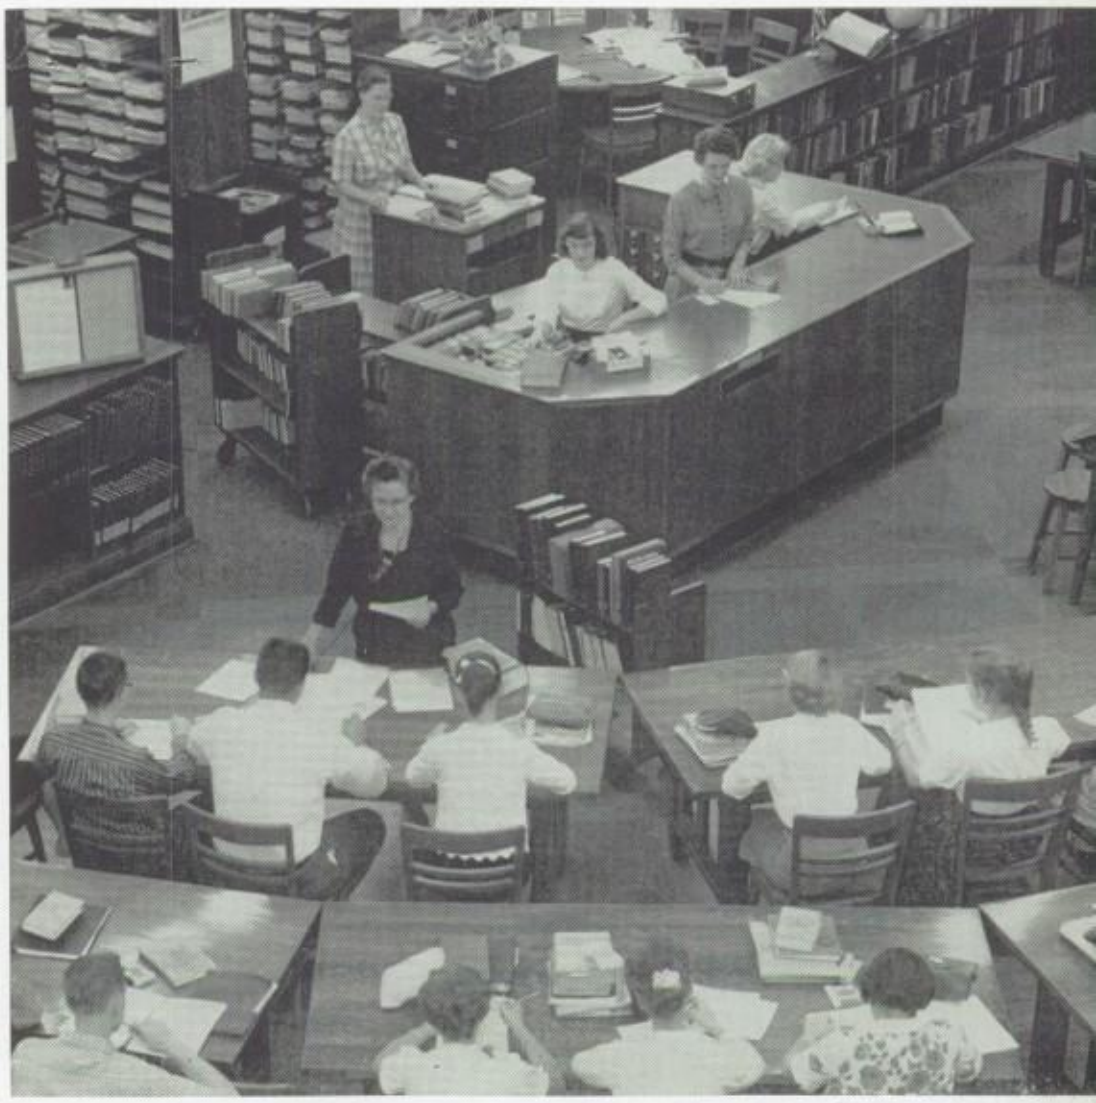
Under the direction of Miss W. E. Ponder, who became the first full-time librarian in 1917, the library collection grew to include 3531 books and 26 magazines in 1920.

This is a far cry from its present stock of 24,000 volumes, and a staff of two librarians, three secretaries, and 56 pages! Because of the recent increase in mass use of reference materials on specific subjects, the librarian has become the co-ordinatior between the classes and their specific sources of information.

This year, to save space in the storing of bound volumes of periodicals, a microfilm machine, or Recordak Reader, stores the material on tiny strips of film. Other firsts this year include use of tape recorders to orientate freshmen, reorganization of the library staff, and added social activities for the library pages.

Aside from the duties of circulating books and magazines, taking attendance slips to classes, writing overdue notices, and sorting mail for the library, the library pages enjoyed a calendar of social activities. They frolicked at a hayride in November, a Christmas party in December, and a library dinner in the spring.

Although the library furnishes a myriad of reference material and books for study and leisure reading, the finest role of the library is that of a silent oasis in a busy school.



GETTING HELP for research papers, seniors in college preparatory classes listen as Mrs. Williams explains different reference books.

PAUSING IN THEIR decorating, library pages gather around the tree.

Parallelograms Foil Math Students

From one teacher and one course each in algebra and geometry, the math department has grown by the gradual addition of courses and teachers to its present size.

In 1922 the first attempts to divide students into ability levels was made. Not until the middle 30's was permission granted for a course intended for students not going to college. Later Math Fundamentals was added to supplement the grade schools in preparing students for high school.

In 1957 the math department added a much stronger unit in Introductory Probabilities and Statistical Inference. In 1958 it added a full year of calculus for 15 selected pupils.

In 1959 the department introduced the School Mathematics Study Group materials for algebra. This work emphasized understanding mathematical structure, reasoning, reading, and computation. Proviso is one of the first schools to use this new approach.

Today 24 teachers offer 5½ years of college preparatory mathematics or 3 years of non-college math. Five-sixths of these teachers have master's degrees and several have done advanced work in Natural Science Foundation Work Shops.

Languages Create Links from Rome to Moscow

Keeping pace with Proviso's growth, the language department has expanded with the need of Proviso's students.

While the total enrollment numbered 234 in 1910, the language department today is providing instruction for 1071 students. This figure by itself is more than four times the entire enrollment of Proviso 50 years ago. The combined language department of Proviso East and West now boasts 18 teachers, compared with the whole faculty of 18 in 1910.

Course offerings have also expanded. Budding linguists may now choose from four years of Latin or Spanish, three years of French or German, and two years of Russian. Language teachers stress conversational ability in their foreign language, but they do not overlook the necessity of a firm foundation in essentials of grammar.

Striving to meet the needs of a progressive nation, Proviso plans to initiate a language laboratory sometime this year. This will include the use of tape recordings, phonograph records, and various other devices to encourage the development of conversational ability and correct pronounciation in a modern spoken language.

In addition to aiding the students in acquiring a second language, the department hopes to foster a spirit of internationalism through the student realization of the interdependence of nations throughout the world, and to encourage an appreciation of the cultural developments of foreign nations. Above all, the language department strives to increase appreciation of the historical development of our own country and how it has evolved from the Old World culture.

What's a term paper? Footnotes, bibliographies, staying up till one or two — social studies students well know the answer. Writing term papers leads to a realization of the fact that we live in troubled times. Khrushchev's visit to the States underlined this question: Can these two countries live in one world? Social studies teachers hope to help students find the answer.

Today's history student may choose from 12 courses compared with the three offered in 1918, and next year the department plans to add geography to its curriculum.

Pupils See Amoeba, Study Meteorology, Too

About $2000 worth of new equipment has been ordered by the science department under the National Defense Education Act. Through this program the government helps high school mathematics and science departments.

This new equipment includes a series of color slides for geology; maps, charts, and plastic mounts for biology; reference books for the department; and a set of model atoms.

Accelerated classes have increased the effectiveness of science courses. Some freshmen will now take biology their first year and chemistry as sophomores. Another aid to effective study is a set of instruments for the physics classes which make extremely accurate measurements possible.

In spite of nation-wide interest which has arisen concerning science education, the total enrollment of the department this year is 1,642 compared to last year's peak of 1,909. General Science ranks first in popularity followed by chemistry, physics, biology and finally zoology, combined with botany after this year to form a course in biology.

Home Ec Students Sew, Prepare Meals

"The word 'homemade' now stands for scientifically made. The girl who can make dresses and bake pies is one to be admired and commended!" These words from the 1919 Provi describe some of the principles of the early home economics department. Started in 1911, the department included one teacher and two courses, Cooking and Sewing.

During World War I the classes did Red Cross work, making clothing for needy Belgian children. They also helped persons affected by the 1929 depression.

Now the department includes two years each of clothing and foods, and a semester each of home planning and family living. Six teachers instruct 600 students instead of 23.

Clothing classes today enjoy the use of light-weight steam irons and electric sewing machines rather than press cloths and treadle machines. Foods courses feature use of convenience foods along with those prepared entirely in the home.

In contrast to the drab rooms of 1911, the Home Ec kitchens now resemble those of an average home. In them girls can prepare and serve a family-size meal suitably. Up-to-date equipment, ranging from garbage disposals to electric knife sharpeners, aids these students in gaining the skills and appreciations needed by American homemakers.

GETTING READY for Christmas parties, girls in foods classes practice making cookies and cakes before Christmas Tea for East faculty.

Art Department Promotes Individuality

Printer spuints at canvas, picks up a glop of paint with each hand, and flings paint at canvas. The art department disapproves of this notion, but its three teachers do incourage individuality among 290 students.

Budding artists learn the fundamentals of drawing and design. They draw, paint, lecture, and study graphics and design for two years. Then they specialise in structural crafts, commercial art, or painting. During this period they learn how to use and pronounce kilns.

They won awards in the scholastic arts competition and a regional commercial award during the last five years, while one student earned a scholarship to the Art Institute.

The students learn by doing. The department feels this individualism necessary to the student who lives in an age of conformity.

The department accented culture at Proviso with their spring art show. The keynote — Liberalism!

Type, Steno Students Watch Clock in Tests

In 1944 the stenographic and commercial departments merged to form the present Commercial Department. Over the years the enrollment of this department has increased in proportion with the growth of the school.

The Commercial Department offers seventeen courses dealing with business principles, organization and general office practice. Students may learn specific office skills associated with secretarial work and bookkeeping.

Approximately 75 per cent of Proviso's students take some course in the commercial department at some time. Typing and stenography rate as the most popular of these.

More and more college-bound students are taking typing as an aid to further study. Students preparing for college or the business world also find first year stenography useful.

For those who need practical experience in the business world, the commercial department also provides on-the-job training for seniors through its vocational retailing courses.

Proviso Gym Classes Dance, Swim, Play Tennis

In 1917 only two teachers, Mr. Brinkerhoff and Mr. Mayer, taught boys' physical education. The year 1921 found 250 boys participating in gym classes meeting twice a week.

Now the department stresses not only the physical aspects of co-ordinattion and muscular development, but also the personal, intellectual, and emotional development of the individual.

No freshman boy will ever forget push-ups, or the other "tortures" awaiting him. In his first year each boy absorbs fundamental skills in basketball, football, wrestling, swimming, and baseball. Besides advancing in these basic skills, sophomores benefit from six-week courses in driver training and safety education.

The junior program introduces training in gymnastics, including the use of the trampoline, parallel bars, and rings. Junior boys also participate in a special Red Cross first aid course.

The senior course widens the student's background by introducing sports which develop his skill and co-ordination to the finest degree. Advanced hygiene and a course in family living are also a part of the program.

Girls physical education, known originally as physical culture, began in 1917 with one teacher, Miss Amy Martin.

By 1921 the curriculum included basketball, dancing, and Swedish exercises. Freshman and sophomore girls took gym work with dancing; all girls took basketball.

Now the course offerings run the gamut from rough-and-tumble speedball to the intricacies of modern dance steps.

Musicians Explore Jazz, Accentuate Classics

With active instruction in both choral and instrumental music, Proviso East's Music Department ranks as one of the finest in the nation. Throughout the year Proviso students strive for excellence in order to produce a bigger and better concert for each performance.

Jazz and classical music come under equal scrutiny in the two-year music appreciation course. Students begin to recognize and enjoy the masters of different fields as they learn that music is a varied and changeable art.

Blending voices, members of the choral groups discover, can be richly rewarding. In their preparations for three annual concerts singing Provisoites gain valuable experience from both the fun and the hard work entailed with participation in Freshman Chorus, Boys' Chorus, Girls' Chorus, or Choir.

For the instrumentally-minded, Proviso offers experience in either Band or Orchestra besides providing instruction for the less advanced student. Concert Orchestra presents two annual concerts and provides the music for all-school plays. In addition to the stirring strains Concert Band provides at home football games, musicians show their versatility by presenting varying selections at concerts and parades.

Boys Work With Wood, Metal, Print

How to build better erector sets: anyone who thinks this the purpose of Industrial Arts should take a closer look. The department provides instruction in subjects ranging from blue-printing to metal work.

Industrial Arts began with the school. At first it taught four subjects: woodturning, bench work, auto mechanics, and mechanical drawing. By 1940 the freshman might take general shop, covering electronics, mechanical drawing, woodworking, printing, metal work, and auto theory. The student spent the next three years specializing in one of these fields in order to prepare for a career in industry.

Drawing classes performed one service when they blue-printed drawings of the grounds and gave the prints to the maintenance department. Now they serve the main office,too.

Counselors Contribute Wisdom to Students

Expanding more in services than in size, the counseling department has shown a marked change in the past years. Before 1935 the department included only a Dean of Men and a Dean of Women, who handled adjustment problems and exercised more disciplinary control than counselors do now.

To meet the needs presented by the increase in enrollment, Proviso adopted a system of four counselors, divided between boys and girls. In 1936 group counseling was added. Under this system six counselors, constituted the department. This was augmented in 1938 by the addition of a placement service. In 1946 occupational conferences were added.

Beginning in 1958 juniors and seniors also received group counseling. In that year two additional counselors joined the department. Turning the attendance routines over to two attendance clerks, the counseling department took over the responsibilities of enrollment last year to further aid students.

Clinics Help to Improve Special Skills

After a screening test, referral by a teacher, or personal choice, students may enroll at the Speech and Hearing Clinic, a feature of the Special Education Department. At this time, Mr. Charles Moore works with 140 students to rehabilitate speech and hearing problems.

Students desiring to improve their reading efficiency may enroll with Miss Dorothy Cherrington at the Reading Center. There, 140 students work on comprehension, study skills, vocabulary, and increase speed. The center has 14 accelerator machines for increasing silent reading speed.

Two fully-insured cars offer driver-training students the opportunity for on-the-road practice under competent supervision. Supplementing such training are classroom sessions and use of fifteen Drivotrainers. These new machines surround the student driver with all the instruments and equipment he finds in a real car. A series of films simulates different driving situations.

Through the use of Drivotrainers, students develop eye-hand-foot co-ordination and judgment. The machines also prepare students for emergency situations which might have more distastrous consequences if met first on the road.

Leadership

Boasting leadership and ambition, the fiftieth-year graduates led the "progressive" movement at East. These student leaders sparked school-wide enthusiasm in a variety of activities. Almost over night, clubs sprang up and former organizations brushed off their old charters in the hope of reviving membership. Class representatives voted for a new method of holding student nominations. Enlivening school elections, bulletin-board campaigns gave students a chance to know their candidates better. Organizations carried out the progressive theme by attracting new membership and interest in their projects. By the end of the year students found that they had reaped many benefits. They had not only acquired social skills, but also developed further their personalities.

Ensembles from each of the main musical organizations — Band, Orchestra, Choir — provide opportunities for students to gain musical experience. Besides performing for local and civic groups, the ensembles, and various soloists, take part in the annual music contests.

Entertaining the entire student body, Choir and Band also offer opportunities to hear fine music by their presentations of assemblies for all four classes as well as big clubs.

Promotes Musical Ability in Students

Moods of music contributed harmony and the first activity to a new Proviso in 1913 when the Concert Orchestra made its appearance. Reigning as the oldest organization in the history of the school, the orchestra then consisted of twelve members selected by Mr. Benjamin Wells, the founder.

Today's orchestra, numbering 55, presents winter and spring concerts and provides music for the all-school plays.

Symphonic spirits rose in 1958 when the orchestra moved into its present headquarters in Memorial Hall. Previous leadership, under Mr. Erwin Bell and Mr. Wallace Nelson, helped establish a firm foundation for Proviso's Orchestra.

In October the members and their parents attending the annual Orchestra Parents' Potluck were entertained with music ranging from folk tunes to Bacherini.

Christmas carols rang through Proviso's auditorium on December 6, 1959. The Orchestra, under Miss Zimmerman, and the Choir Ensembles under Mr. Richard Whitecotton, shared in providing all with a spirited Christmas program.

Its Golden Anniversary Edition

"Next week we have to get organized."

Each week this comment echoed forth from the desk of Marcia Brown, Editor-in-Chief of the 1960 Provi. Repetition of the statement prompted the staff to adopt it as their official motto. Confirming this remark, a peek into the Provi office, Room 218, would reveal fifteen workers hustling about, meeting deadlines, writing copy, and checking pictures — all in what seemed like utter confusion.

The first Provi staff in 1916 started a publication which has become the biggest single production of the school year. Through forty-four years each book has recorded the story of another Proviso. This year, Proviso East's Golden Anniversary, the 1960 staff highlights the book with a history section, emphasizing the expansion and growth of the school during its first fifty years.

On trips to the National Scholastic Press Association convention in Washington last summer and to conferences at York High School and the University of Illinois during the year, the staff learned more about producing a yearbook. A tour through a cover manufacturing plant helped the staff with tips on good cover design.

Adviser, Miss Eleanor Johnson, shared the fun, frolic, and hard work of Provi meetings during seventh period each day and every Tuesday evening throughout the year. Papers flew, and pencils whizzed as all worked with one goal in mind: "To get organized next week." And so . . . to press.

Pageant Voices Opinions of Students,

In the fall of 1919 Proviso students saw the first edition of the Pageant. The first staff of juniors and seniors published the four-page newspaper-magazine every other week under the supervision of Miss Florence Otis, the first Pageant adviser. A competitive contest determined a new staff each semester.

Forty years and one adviser later, the Proviso Pageant continues to grow. Mr. Richard Daniels, the Pageant's second adviser, supervises activities. After a week of copy writing, rewriting, checking galleys, and making-up pages, Pageanteers send the results to the printer and begin again.

Pageant serves four purposes as a school newspaper. It publicizes the school to the community through advertising. unifies school spirit by printing sports news, records school events in editorials and news articles, and motivates both the creative and journalistic writer to develop his talents.

After a semester of newswriting in the junior year, each student works hard as understudy of a senior staff member with hopes that he will soon take over his duties on the editorial board.

Yet a position on the Pageant staff does not mean all work and no play. A trip to the ISHSPA convention at the University of Illinois in November included conferences on newswriting, meeting new friends, the ISHSPA dance, and a view of campus life. A Christmas party and the Pageant picnic lengthened the list of fun activities.

Suspense mounted as the annual Publications Potluck drew near. The announcement of the new staff for 1960-61 and of the seniors accepted for Quill and Scroll climaxed the fortieth year since the appearance of Proviso's Pageant.

Arouses Controversies and Discussions

Approach! Apeal! Action! The advertising staff realizes well the significance of these words. Through selling and writing ads, they fill 100 inches of space in each week's Pageant. The six-member staff gives additional proof of its ad-getting ability in the two big Christmas editions.

The chief job of Pageant's circulation staff involves delivering 3450 newspapers into hall lockers before 3:35 every Thursday. Fifty students, fifteen route captains, and staff officers carry out this project during their seventh periods.

Graduates, retired teachers, and other subscribers receive Pageants through the efforts of the mailing department. The mailing staff also handles an exchange of school newspapers with several hundred school and colleges throughout the nation. This library of papers not only plants new ideas in the pages of the Pageant, but gives new staff members a chance to familiarize themselves with newspaper layouts.

Sparkling blue and white uniform of today add color to the non-uniformed band of yesterday. Organized in 1921, the all-male band started with twenty-five members, under the direction of Mr. R. Lee Osborn. Nine cornets, two clarinets, two piccolos, four trombones, three saxophones, one horn, one tuba, and two drums composed the first band.

With Maneuvers During Half-time

At the age of one month, the band appeared in its first assembly. Since that time, it has progressed to playing for two major concerts, three school assemblies, and four football games.

The maneuvers of the blue and white band along with the majorettes made a splash of color as members marched across the green football field during half-times. A big attraction this year occurred when the band members and the majorettes welcomed two new states, Alaska and Hawaii. While the band played appropriate music, Abe Lincoln, representing Illinois, greeted two majorettes, one dressed in a grass skirt, and one in white fur. Another half-time highlight took place at the 1959 Homecoming Game, when the band emulated a bullfight. The costumes rivaled those found in a Spanish arena, while the music created the appropriate mood.

Concert music this year included "Overture to Mignon," "Bacchanab" from Samson and Delilah, and "Capriccio Italien." Music by Stephen Foster, "Tap Roots," and "Battle Hymn of the Republic" added spirit and atmosphere to the first concert, which closed with a tribute to Abraham Lincoln.

Top Musical Performers Publicize Proviso Band

Throughout Proviso's history students have shown their interest in musical appreciation by their participation in various band groups. Under the direction of Mr. Irving Tallmadge, these organizations provide young musicians with a basic background in serious music.

Representing an important part of the music department, the band groups serve Proviso with their musical talents by performing at various ceremonial functions.

Additions of new music quarters in 1939 and again in 1957 placed emphasis on the importance of band ensemble work. Public appearances and community services added incentive.

The duets, quartets, and sextets have represented Proviso royally in both district and state music contests. Proviso's band groups have taken honors in every musical field.

Caroling Choirs Give Proviso Holiday Spirit

"I hear music . . ."

Provisoites passing Room 326 of Memorial hall may have had an opportunity to hear one of Proviso East's four choruses. Under the direction of Mr. Robert Davis and Mr. Richard Whitecotton and continuing a 30-year tradition of choral music, 325 voices in varied choral organizations met two or three hours each week to learn and to practice harmony.

The highlight of the year for three of these groups, Freshman Girls' chorus, Girls' chorus, and Boys' chorus, was the opportunity to appear in the Christmas, Mid-Winter, and Spring choral concerts. Preparing for these appearances, underclassmen gained experience and received training to help them toward possible choir membership.

Songsters met during the second and fifth periods. Freshman Girls' chorus claimed the largest membership with 110 voices. Slightly below the neophyte choristers in number were the 100-voice Girls' chorus, composed of freshmen, sophomores, juniors, and seniors, and the Boys' Chorus.

CHOIR — FRONT ROW: Mr. Whitecotton (Ensemble Coach), Linda Swiderski, Dilys Finch, Roberta Hauser, and Priscilla Holcombe. SECOND ROW: Sharon Witt, Sharon Brown, Mary Jo Raymond, Carol Schultz, Carlotta Glover, and Lynn Finkbeiner. THIRD ROW: Sam Anzaldi, Timothy O'Leary, Russel Cook, Lynn Dougherty, Teresa Kalbasz, and Gladys Misicka. FOURTH ROW: David Manjarrez, Alan Lundgren, Scott Seely, Peter Bodnar, William Nemecek, Dennis Schlactka, and Eddie Gonzelez. BACK ROW: William Kucik, James McNally, Henry Wulf, John Allen, Richard Ordahl, Franklin Wolfgram, and Robert Weinberg.

Melody, harmony, and color illuminated the choral concerts of Proviso's choir this year. Their programs offered both sacred and secular music to an appreciative audience. "The Night Before Christmas" blended the hushed strains of holiday anticipation, while the Spring concert featured the reverent songs of the Resurrection.

In addition to these concerts, the choir participated in a choral festival during March, a PTA program, caroling in the halls before Christmas vacation, and the annual choir formal in the spring.

Choir began in 1920 under the organization of Mr. Lee Osborn. Today, under the direction of Mr. Robert Davis, it functions as a re-organized group of selected individuals who have progressed through various advanced sections.

Choir ensembles consist of honored melodists who provide music for various social functions and auditorium programs. The ensembles include the Boys' Octet, the Girls' Sextet, and the Mixed Ensemble. Coached by Mr. Richard Whitecotton, they also participate in a state Whitecotton, they participate in a state contest.

League Plans Social Program for Girls

Aiming toward a fun-filled and action-packed year, Girls' League Activities offered hours of enjoyment and good times to all Proviso girls. The first Freshman tea, "A Rose For You" early in October, acquainted newcomers to Girls League social affairs. Juniors and seniors, attending "Gamma Lambda Tea" received a first-hand glimpse of college life.

Dates with dads at "Papas in Paree," added exciting night life to this year's activities. Girls' League honored their mothers at the Mother-Daughter banquet in the spring. The annual sock hop in March climaxed class competition during bow week. As the year drew to a close, senior girls bade farewell to Girls' League tradition at the graduation tea.

Continue Doll, Vietnamese Projects

Christmas cheer extended further than Proviso's doors this year when Girls' League sponsored their traditional Doll Project. Each homeroom shared in contributing season spirit to the children in Cook County Hospital by purchasing at least one doll. The homerooms named and clothed each doll before sending it to some little girl. With extra money donated by the students, homeroom representatives bought books, games, stuffed animals and tops to present to the boys in the hospital.

A seven-year-old Vietnamese girl claimed another big project which Girls' League has undertaken for the second year. Phan Thi Hien has 1,300 mothers, all of them Girls' League members. The League adopted Hien last year through the Foster Parents Plan. Each month Girls' League sends the little girl $15 to help pay for her food, clothing, and education. She repays her "mothers" with letters.

ALWAYS READY for refreshments, Girls' Leaguers Carole Opie, Sue Davies, Joann Lambke, Karin Smith, and Linda Smith, take their turns at the Christmas Tea.

Future Teachers Adopt New Merit Point System

Students explore the teaching profession as members of Future Teachers of America. The club works directly with the teaching program by giving members the opportunity to visit grade schools. Through actual experience in these classrooms, many students receive valuable aid in selecting their particular field of study. Advised by Mrs. E. Shockley and Mr. J. Hinds, Miriam Zeiger and her staff plan activities to arouse interest in teaching.

A new innovation is the point system whereby members of the club obtain points of merit for their services. A blue-and-white pin signifies excellent participation and service in FTA.

Through Future Teachers students promise to "fill their minds with worthy thoughts by observing all that is beautiful in the world around them, by reading the best books, and by association with the best companions."

Subcommittees Strengthen Council

"Drop a suggestion in the box," urged Student Council, but it didn't expect the pizza someone slipped in. However, suggestions have helped the Council grow.

Student Council began in 1926 as a Service Club; today the Council sponsors fun nights, homecoming and Valentine's dances. It held a charity fun night, complete with slave auction, to help Rankin Cove, a needy southern school. It also contributed $792 to funds fighting cancer, heart disease, multiple sclerosis, and tuberculosis.

Council Representatives Keep Homerooms Posted

No one's investiagting our subcommittees. Our subcommittees have kept everyone too busy. New this year, they sent questionnaires to schools all over the country, polling them on improvements which Proviso might adopt. Around Christmas time, subcommittees gave this information to Council, which later decided what improvements to make.

Another new procedure: Council allowed election campaigns. After the freshman class's full-scale campaign, spring elections included a bulletin board for candidates. Rallies screen potential candidates, limiting two to each office.

Meanwhile, regular committees, 14 in all, engaged in annual activities from publicizing school events to sponsoring a foreign exchange student for next year. Committee chairmen and Council officers served on the cabinet, which reported to the Student Council assembly. Members recall how Gabe Caliendo won elections as Vice President of the Illinois Association of Student Councils. They also remember the spring get-together, and the Awards Assembly.

Co-op Board Provides Study Hall Supervision

Providing a maximum of student government with a minimum of faculty supervision, Co-op Study Halls operate on an honor basis dependent upon maturity and good behavior. They serve as an experiment in self-government and self-discipline. The forty-one study halls enable the 1,000 participants to acquire self control and responsibility by allowing individual students to govern fellow classmates.

The Co-op charter which has been in effect since 1947 provides for an executive board, consisting of eight student supervisors and three officers, and the procedures used in regular study halls. In addition, the charter provides for carrying on the business of the organization, appointing rovers for various study periods, and electing chairmen.

Directed by Miss Lois Robinson, the board sent out questionnaires to member students requesting suggestions for improvement. The response to these questionnaires demonstrated the cooperation between the supervising students and the governed students and has benefitted both groups.

Ushers, Supervisors Help Keep Order

Forty carefully-selected junior and senior girls of Proviso East's Ushers Club, serve both school and students by ushering at PTA meetings, choral and orchestra concerts, and school plays. After club elections in the spring, the girls present an installation for new officers and members. In June they serve at Class Day and Commencement.

Dressed in white blouses and dark blue skirts, ushers display courtesy, punctuality, and a willingness to help.

Assembly Supervisors, an all-male club, offers assistance to students and faculty at school functions. Composed of boys from all four classes, the organization divides its leadership among four class chairmen under one president. The organization's primary duties are to help maintain order and direct traffic at assemblies in the auditorium. Directed by Mr. Otto Boldt, the club has provided these services for six years. These boys are selected for a four-year period.

FBLA Members Become Executive Type

Want to meet the executive type? FBLA gathers Provisoites interested in careers in business, and offers inspiration and direction. Under the direction of Mr. Robert T. Stickler, future leaders of the business world put effort and spirit into the task of keeping the school store in running order. They sell before school and during lunch periods.

Proving their ability in the social world, members enjoyed dances and parties sponsored by FBLA.

At the annual spring conference at Springfield, Illinois, the two worlds merged. Members were given opportunities to demonstrate their abilities and exchange ideas while enjoying a full social program climaxed by a dinner and dance.

Cine Members Provide Movies for Classes

"Want a movie? Call the Cine Room!" teachers are told. One of the 45 active members of the Cine Club will set up the equipment and present the movie.

In a room especially equipped for their type of work, Cine members learn to use the 22 sound projectors plus record players, slide projectors, and tape recorders.

Mr. C. W. Bills, club adviser, believes that boys who like to work in electronics gain valuable experience operating projectors and transcribing tapes. At the same time, the boys enjoy recreational activities such as bowling on Saturday mornings. Selling programs at football games combines fun with service to Proviso.

The loyal service of the Cine members along with Proviso's fine equipment has won national honors for this school group. In addition to operating projectors in room 266 and transcribing tapes, Cine Club boys also supply teachers with films and tapes for classroom use. The expanding use of this equipment keeps these boys in constant demand by the many departments at Proviso East with varied needs.

Scalpers and Chiselers Practice Skills

"Scalpel, sutures, clamps." These words hold real meaning for girls in Future Nurses of America. The 45 girls have listened to speakers from nursing schools in the Chicago area who lectured on specific phases of nursing and answered individual questions.

Trips to hospitals in the area helped members to select a place for future study. These trips were also a method by which FNA presented a clearer picture of nursing to its members and helped them decide whether they really wanted to enter the nursing profession. Miss Florence Akers, one of the school nurses, is the adviser of this student group.

Unbeat but cool, Palette and Chisel stimulates creativity. In 1958 East's Art Department sponsored the Art Honorary Society, an art club which required skill as well as interest. Recently it adopted the name Palette and Chisel.

Putting the accent on the intellectual and contemporary, the club takes trips to galleries on the Near North side and to the Art Institute. Members heard guest speakers like noted sculptor, Rudy Seno, and held workshops where members produced pottery, paintings, and craft articles. Students saw their work on display when Palette and Chisel sponsored its Annual Student Art Exhibit this spring.

Science Club Theorizes; Machinists Apply Ideas

Exciting achievements in today's world of science promoted curiosity and knowledge in Proviso's Science Club.

While participating in the Science Fair at the Illinois Junior Academy, they exchanged ideas, gaining knowledge necessary to improve the young club.

The Science Club, begun in 1929 by Harvey F. Johnson, was named the General Science Club, and included 80 freshmen and sophomores. One year later, in 1930, J. W. Moelk organized a second scientific organization for upperclassmen taking advanced science courses.

Gaining vocational knowledge, junior and senior boys in the Machine Shop curriculum claim membership in the Machine Shop Club. To give useful experience in handling machines, this relatively new organization was founded in 1951. The organization produced ashtrays, hospital carts, and cribbage boards to be used by the patients of Hines Hospital. In addition, the club supplies cases and batteries for the electric candles used by the Choir and NHS.

Lettermen Like Shouting, Monitors Discourage It

Each day more than 300 monitors, selected on the basis of grades and character, give study time to duty in the halls. Sponsored by Mr. Rattenbury, the organization operates on an honor basis. Once a month The Monitor is published to acquaint the members with new innovations in the organization's procedures. It also evaluates the conduct of monitors. To qualify as a monitor a student must possess self-discipline and an awareness of his responsibility to others.

FROM HER monitor post at the top of the stairs, Sandra Hubbel checks on Mary Lyons who is returning after delivering a notice.

Athletic interest and school spirit supply keys to membership in Major Lettermen's Service Club. Letter Winners Rouse Athletic Spirit

Numerals, minor letters, major letters! These symbolize the achievements of each member of Proviso's Lettermen's Club. The honored athletes not only promote good sportsmanship, but also advocate active participation in athletics throughout the entire Proviso East student body.

Head coach R. J. Thiebert organized the Varsity Club, the forerunner of the Lettermen's Club, in 1925. In 1933. the club introduced the Proviso letters. To promote athletics, the club held a game night each Wednesday evening where members took part in individual and team sports.

Players Prepare Roles for Contest

Stimulating interest in dramatics, the Proviso Players presented several one-act plays for the entertainment of their members, using the plays of amateur artists as their models. Mr. Frank Filson, sponsor, with Mr. William Waack and Miss Elizabeth Little, assistant sponsors, coached the actors. Each of them supervised one play. A program in make-up and the presentation of dramatic cuttings from famous scenes by contestants prepared them for their roles in the plays as well as in individual contests.

The group stirred up seasonal cheer at the Christmas party when they enjoyed a cake inscribed with the club name and the names of the three sponsors. Miss Nancy Hurt added her knowledge of radio and television advertising to the event with an informative talk.

Members were chosen in the spring of the previous year from the sophomore, junior, and senior classes while space was allowed for entering freshmen. To facilitate their productions, the club has limited membership to fifty students.

Scouts Seek Adventure; Girls Plan Water Show

Fourteen years of outdoor experiences has aided the Explorer Scout group in maintaining their purpose of teaching self-sufficiency.

To prove this, the sixteen scouts enjoyed the weekend camping trip at White Pines State Park. Visits to the Mississippi Palisades, Devils Lake, and Turkey Run State Park also helped boys gain adventures and experience outdoors. life.

Explorer Scout services included selling crackerjack and selling brooms to aid the blind.

Nekton Swim Club made a splash at the Annual Water Show with their theme, Exotic Perfumes. Its members created, directed, and produced the water ballet. Under the supervision of Mrs. Marilyn Hiskett, the girls held practice sessions once a week. As show time approached sessions were increased to four times weekly plus Saturdays.

After try-outs Nekton's 38 members plunged into synchronized swim sessions. Between dunks they viewed movies of champion swimmers. Attending swim exhibitions and competitions including the International Aquatic Festival and the AAU competition provided swimmers with inspiration, and entertainment, in addition to fresh ideas.

Composed of boys elected from their homerooms during their sophomore year, the Key Club is an organization dedicated to service. The selection of its members depends on grade average and teachers' ratings.

During the 1959-60 season the club expanded its many activities. Members began their year by helping to sell refreshments at football games. Serving the Kiwanis Club in the fall, the Key Club participated in Kiwanis Kids' Day peanut sales. Christmas spirits brought a collection of toys and money for orphan children at the Good Fellows Foundation.

Speech Sessions Train, Prepare Winners

Proviso East won election to the National Forensic League in 1958. This league promotes nation-wide contests and a national speech tournament in San Diego each year.

Sponsored by Mr. Clay Wilmington, the hopeful speakers attended three practice tournaments at Waukegan, East Peoria, and Thornton Fractional high schools. They practiced giving individual speeches in nine different areas. Among these were original oratory, extempore, radio and television speaking, poetry and play reading.

The twenty NFL members hoped to enter the Illinois state competition at Urbana at the end of the year. Survivors of this session would advance to the national tournament.

GETTING READY for an extempore speech, Karen Haskins, Robert Marshall and Jill Gendel search magazines.

Debaters Triumph at Tournaments

The debate team, characterized by youth and enthusiasm, chalked up a winning season for first-year coach, Clay Willmington. Four juniors, Steve Scott, Karen Haskins, Barbara Mahan, and Jill Gendel, along with rookie-senior Howard Gordon, combined their efforts to lead the varsity to a first place in Proviso West's first invitational tourney. In addition, they placed high in the standings of the tough Metropolitan Debate League, which includes the Chicago-Calumet area.

The much-traveled debaters' season also included tournaments at Augustana College in Rock Island, Northern Illinois State University at DeKalb, Northwestern University in Evanston, and East Peoria High School. They debated the proposition "Resolved: that the Federal Government should substantially increase control of labor unions," before community groups.

The four freshmen who led the junior varsity debate squad were Bob Marshall, Larry Wick, Norman Gordon, and Harold Williamson. This foursome gained support from Gordon Robbins, '60, Tom Tohtz, '61, and Ricky Schmidt, '62. These boys, with only one year of debate experience, won most of their junior varsity bouts, and occasionally they tripped up the varsity debaters in practice sessions.

NHS Welcomes Columnist Sydney Harris

Hopes run high and nerves are on edge around March as juniors and seniors anticipate membership in National Honor Society. Chosen on the basis of their character, scholarship, leadership, and service, the top fifteen per cent of each class are eligible for election by a vote of their past and present teachers.

Reorganizing and cataloguing college material in the NHS library, members prepared the library for student use. Preparation of a college week exhibition in the library and the presentation of induction services to freshmen and new students helped to publicize the club early in the fall.

Members enjoyed the privilege of helping to nominate a candidate to the Hall of Fame of Great Americans. This privilege is granted once every five years to all NHS Chapters. The hall, an open colonnade containing bronze tablets and busts of great Americans, is located in New York University.

Sydney J. Harris spoke at the annual NHS banquet in April. The society also awarded its traditional two scholarships to its most outstanding members at the banquet.

NHS Limits Membership to Seniors

Sixty-eight seniors earned election to National Honor Society under a new system this year. Although still receiving election on the basis of scholarship, character, leadership, and service, students now have to rank in the top 25 per cent of the senior class to qualify. Teachers' trait-rating scores combine with the seniors' class rank to narrow the choice. Finally, teachers vote either yes or no on whether students, in their estimation, qualify for membership. Members ranking highest in their class became the new NHS members in a candlelight ceremony at the annual banquet in spring.

Seven Sisters Solve Merry Marital Mix-Up

"Are you proposing marriage or wedlock?" asked Mitzi (Nancy Kochenderfer), climaxing the marital mix-ups in the first all-school play, "Seven Sisters." A cast of students from all classes presented the play on November 18, 19, and 20, under the direction of Miss Elizabeth Little.

Taking place in pre-Communist Hungary, "Seven Sisters" centered around the difficulties encountered by Mrs. Gyurkovics, a widow (Joyce McCormick) who sought husbands for her seven daughters in the order of their ages.

When Ferenz Horkoy (David Moritz) fell in love with the fourth daughter, Mitzi, the polt thickened. Ferenz had to find husbands for the other daughters if he wished to wed Mitzi. Light comedy was interspersed with real suspense as efforts became more involved.

The other would-be brides included Liza (Necia Brown), Klara (Carmencita McDonald), Katinka Kaj (Patsy Kochenderfer), Sari (Sharon Weiss), Ella (Barbara McGuane), and Terka (Roberta Bannon).

Several committees helped the play run smoothly. Committee chairmen included Igors Prieditis, tickets; Vicki Dwoinen, publicity; Judy Sharpe and Jackie Hupp, sound; and Dorothy Granato, make-up. Sue Ernst, Irene Fuller, and Darlene Wede managed the publicity. Sandra Kay and Carole Opie planned the costumes. Miss Lorraine Ohlson's art classes, composing the stage committee, designed the sets.

Players Present Sophisticated Comedy

". . . Aunt Augusta, I never before realized the vital importance of being earnest."

With this play on words, John Worthing, played by Henry Wulf, stated the theme of the second all-school play, Oscar Wilde's "The Importance of Being Earnest," March 8, 10, and 12.

Opening in the home of Algernon Moncrief, played by John Winters, the play showed the customs and sentimentality of the upper-class English in the "gay 90's."

Stereotyped characters — Lane, the meticulous butler, played by Darrell Pav; Lady Bracknell, the society matron, played by Sharon Foley, and prim Miss Prism the governess, played by Barbara McGuane, amused the audience.

Mistaken identities complicated the plot and added to the humor. Love met with entanglements and paternal objections.

Working behind the scenes, student committees assisted the production. Under the direction of Mrs. Marjorie Peterson, Sue Walker headed the properties committee. Igor Prieditis and Sharon Logan handled the tickets with the aid of Mr. Ronald Singer, faculty sponsor.

Mr. William Waack, director, and his student director, Joyce McCormick, managed the play. Students from all four years worked to make the second All-School Play a success.

"WHO STOLE the cucumber sandwiches?" Algy asks Lane, who is pouring tea for Lady Bracknell, Cecily Cardew, and John Worthing.

"CECILY, WHO is Cecily?" demands Algernon Moncrief as he questions John Worthing about his ward.

Sportsmanship

Loyally backed by students and faculty, the athletic teams sparked the year with keen excitement and high hopes. Competition quickened reflexes, and frequent practices drove home winning plays. The season began with hustling sessions on the football field and ended amid home runs on the diamond. In between goals the gymnastic team copped second place in state finals. Trailing on the heels of this victory, the basketball squad defeated Kankakee to carry home the super-sectional championship. An exuberant crowd turned out for a pep assembly which hailed the team's trip to the quarter-finals in Champaign, the first in Proviso's history. The varsity cheer-leaders earned an award as the best cheerleading squad of the Elite Eight, ending the year with another victory.

After an undefeated 1958 season, Proviso East fans received somewhat of a let down when the Pirates finished with a 4-3-1 slate in their 1959 campaign. However, the Pirates, collecting 105 points to their opponents 84, finished with a 3-3-1 record and fourth place in the Suburban League.

Several footballers won all-star honors. Ken Norton, Larry Howard, and Gene Moore made first team all-conference. Ron Buchanan and Gene Mitz made the second team. Norton capped off his final year by receiving all-state honors.

Fourth Place in Suburban League

PROVISO 34—AURORA 6

In the game against the Tomcats, Pete Parrillo scored twice with runs of 40 yards and one yard. Fullback Rich Slobodnik supplied the power with bursts through the middle. Ron Buchanan sped three punt runbacks totaling 126 yards and one touchdown.

PROVISO 6 — MORTON 0

Proviso scored in the first quarter and then put on a great defensive. A 47-yard pass from Carl Brunst to Ron Buchanan set up the play, which led to Pete Parrillo's TD.

PROVISO 7 — HIGHLAND PARK 6

Pirate defense helped Proviso win again. The Bucs scored a lone touchdown in the second quarter as Big Rich Slobodnik went off left tackle for 16 yards and the touchdown. Art Custardo then kicked the deciding point-after-touchdown. In the closing minutes of the game, Highland Park blocked a Buc punt and, in the confusion, Little Giant Nils Hagberb fell on the ball in the end zone for a touchdown. However, Slobodnik blocked the extra point.

OAK PARK 27 — PROVISO 19

The Oak Park team, playing before a homecoming crowd, rose to the peak of its season against the Pirates. An injury to Ron Buchanan hampered the Buc unity. Oak Park had two TD runs of 59 and 68 yards. The Huskies and Pirates battled as usual, but Oak Park spirit upset Proviso.

Norton Makes All-State, Suburban League Teams

PROVISO 13 — NILES 13

Proviso lost another key man in Rich Slobodnik, when an ankle injury forced him out for the season. The thrill of the year came when, in the third quarter, 239-pound tackle Lou Sciortino intercepted a Niles pass and barreled 72 yards for a touchdown which put Proviso ahead 13-7. However, the extra point attempt failed and later Niles tied the game at 13-13 and stalled out the remaining minutes.

NEW TRIER 25 — PROVISO 6

Playing in sloppy weather before a sparse crowd in Winnetka, Proviso lagged behind New Trier. The Pirates fumbled six times; New Trier recovered each fumble.

PROVISO 13 — WAUKEGAN 0

The Pirates played their finest game of the year, despite the worst conditions. Bulldogs galloped 84 yards for the game, while the Pirates knocked off 313 yards. Larry Howard pounded a total of 124 yards, while Carl Brunst took honors as quarterback. Pete Parrillo scored both touchdowns on runs of three and four yards.

EVANSTON 13 — PROVISO 7

Proviso's two major mistakes in this game came when Wildkit back Sam Ward slipped through the Buc defense for touchdown runs of 52 and 55 yards. The Pirates scored on a 33-yard pass from Ron Buchanan to Tom Greninger.

MOST VALUABLE PLAYER Gene Mitz grins after an exciting football season.

Sophomore A Footballers Finish With 3-3-1 Record

Proviso East sophomore A gridders, coached by Dick Barham and Don Braucher, garnered a 3-3-1 record to gain a fifth place in the Suburban League.

Fred Custardo, Larry Lewis, Leonard Perkins, and Terry Fippinger carried the load in the scoring department for the Buccaneers.

Forrest Magers, Mike Sandt, Aigars Tolks, John Bilenko, and Don Herhold provided the necessary blocking for the Bucs.

In the season opener against East Aurora the sophs recorded a 20-6 win. The Suburban League inaugural found the sophs unprepared as a powerful Morton eleven walloped the Pirates 25-0. Proviso then watched the sophs topple Highland Park 20-14.

In the annual contest with rival Oak Park, the Pirates dropped the Huskies 14-6.

The Blue-and-White dropped its Homecoming game to the Niles Trojans 21-12. The Pirates bounced back to tie New Trier 20-20 and drop Waukegan 19-13.

Finishing out the season, the Buccaneers fell to the champion Evanston Wildkits 37-6 during a home game.

Jayvees, Soph B's Place in League

Coaches Louis Slimmer and Charles Kassel guided the sophomore B football squad to a record of four wins and one loss in the 1959 season.

After soundly defeating their first four opponents, the yearlings dropped their final tussle to Morton, 19-13.

Spectacular runs were made by halfbacks Dave Rumph, John Aleo, Hank Muensterman, Ken Wiegel, and fullback Al Morganti. Martin Lietz, Ray Boldt, Brian Smith, and Charles Spinelli were outstanding on offense and defense.

Junior Varsity footballers, coached by Don Sanservino and Gordon Busse, finished their 1959 season by chalking up a record of four wins, two losses, and one tie.

The signal calling of quarterbacks Pat McGee and Tom Huffer led the squad, while outstanding runs by David Holian, Walter Stinsom, Walter Ruppman, Tom Bosco, Joe Urso, and Joe Devita sparked the ground crew.

The J.V.'s defeated Schurz, Evanston, Morton and New Trier. They lost to Oak Park and Niles, tied St. Procopious.

JV FOOTBALL—FRONT ROW: J. T. Alexander, Cliff Brown, Tim Urban, John Saviola, Joe Urio, Dave Lewis, and Dave Holian. SECOND ROW: Burt Miller, Jim White, Bill O'Neill, Jim Mills, Dennis Narrison, Sheldon Ross, Ed Schwalm, Pat McGhee, and Bill Tauber. BACK ROW: Prentiss Byrd, Hugh Muir, John Webb, Keith Golz, David Jones, Steve Adolphson, and Maurice Sykes.

DUTCH REICHS accepts nomination as Proviso's most valuable harrier.

Coach Kenneth Murphy steered the Varsity harriers into a third-place finish in the Suburban League. Winning eight out of ten dual meets, junior Bruce Miller led the Bucs, while senior veterans Daryl McPherson and Dutch Reichs alternated in the second spot.

After dropping the season's opener to Lane Tech, the Pirates downed Highland Park and Hinsdale before being trounced by New Trier, the eventual state champions. The 19-46 whipping saw Miller edged out by Weymouth Kirkland, later the individual champion at Champaign.

LaGrange dumped the Bucs by a close score; then against Niles the Pirates turned in their finest performance of the season, Miller, Reichs, and McPherson broke the Trojan course record, and Keith Wright, Ron Pochman, Bill Burke, and Bob Zalisk completed the rout, allowing only one Trojan to break the Pirate string.

The Pirates faltered in the league meet, as only Miller, McPherson, and Pochman ran as expected. They managed a third-place finish.

The inexperienced sophomore squad coached by Robert Polson took eighth place in the league with a 1-5-1 record.

Pirate Gymnasts Win Second In State

Gymnastics has symbolized success during the 1959-60 season at Proviso. The varsity team, coached by Bill Roetzheim, sported a one-loss campaign, while Coach Richard Barham's frosh-soph gymnasts won all but two.

Season's highlights included the excellent performances of varsity gymnasts Stan Banks and Rich Lapham who continuously led the team to victory, and freshman George Husser who consistently won first place on the side horse.

Performing at the state meet, the varsity gymnasts showed excellent form, finishing second, behind champion Arlington.

Enjoying the most successful season in Proviso's fifty-year history, Coach Tom Millikin's varsity cagers racked up twenty-four wins against only three losses during the '59-'60 season.

The Pirates topped their first five opponents before moving into the Pontiac Holiday Tournament. Mauling Lexington 91-52, the Bucs set two tourney records — most points in a single game and most field goals. They tripped Princeton and Lockport before losing to Waukegan in title conflict.

After falling again to Waukegan, the Proviso quintet steamed to seven straight victories, topping all their league opponents, including Waukegan.

Came tournament time and the Pirates began their climb toward the state crown. Traveling to the East Leyden Regional, the Big Blues topped West Leyden with the alternate unit playing most of the game. They faced Notre Dame of Niles on Wednesday night and squeezed past the Dons in an exciting battle which advanced the Proviso quintet to the title game against host East Leyden. The Pirates felled the Eagles to take the regional championship.

Hinsdale and All-Stater Marty Reissen provided the first hurdle for the Bucs, but the strong Pirate defense held Reissen to eight points and the Blue-and-White stepped into the title game against Glenbard West. Led by Denny Hansen's 28 points, the Glenbard squad put up a tremendous effort to overcome the Proviso talent, but the Big Blues moved ahead in the third quarter and barely stayed in the lead as the final score read 59-57, in favor of Proviso.

Winning the sectional championship vaulted the Bucs into the "Sweet Sixteen" and presented them with the opportunity to play Kankakee in the Aurora Super-Sectional. During the Kankakee contest, another heart stopper, the Kays led at the quarter and the half by only one point. The powerful Buc offense caught the Kankakee lads in the third quarter and forged ahead to take the contest amid wild cheers of "Champaign, here we come."

Before a capacity crowd at Huff gymnasium on March 18, the Blue-and-White met speedy Decatur. The Decatur five jumped to a quick lead but the Pirates fought back and tied the Reds at the end of regulation play 50-all. The tie moved the conflict into overtime, but the Bucs couldn't stop the Decatur stall and with seconds remaining the Reds led 53-52 as the Pirates and the state crown hopes dropped out.

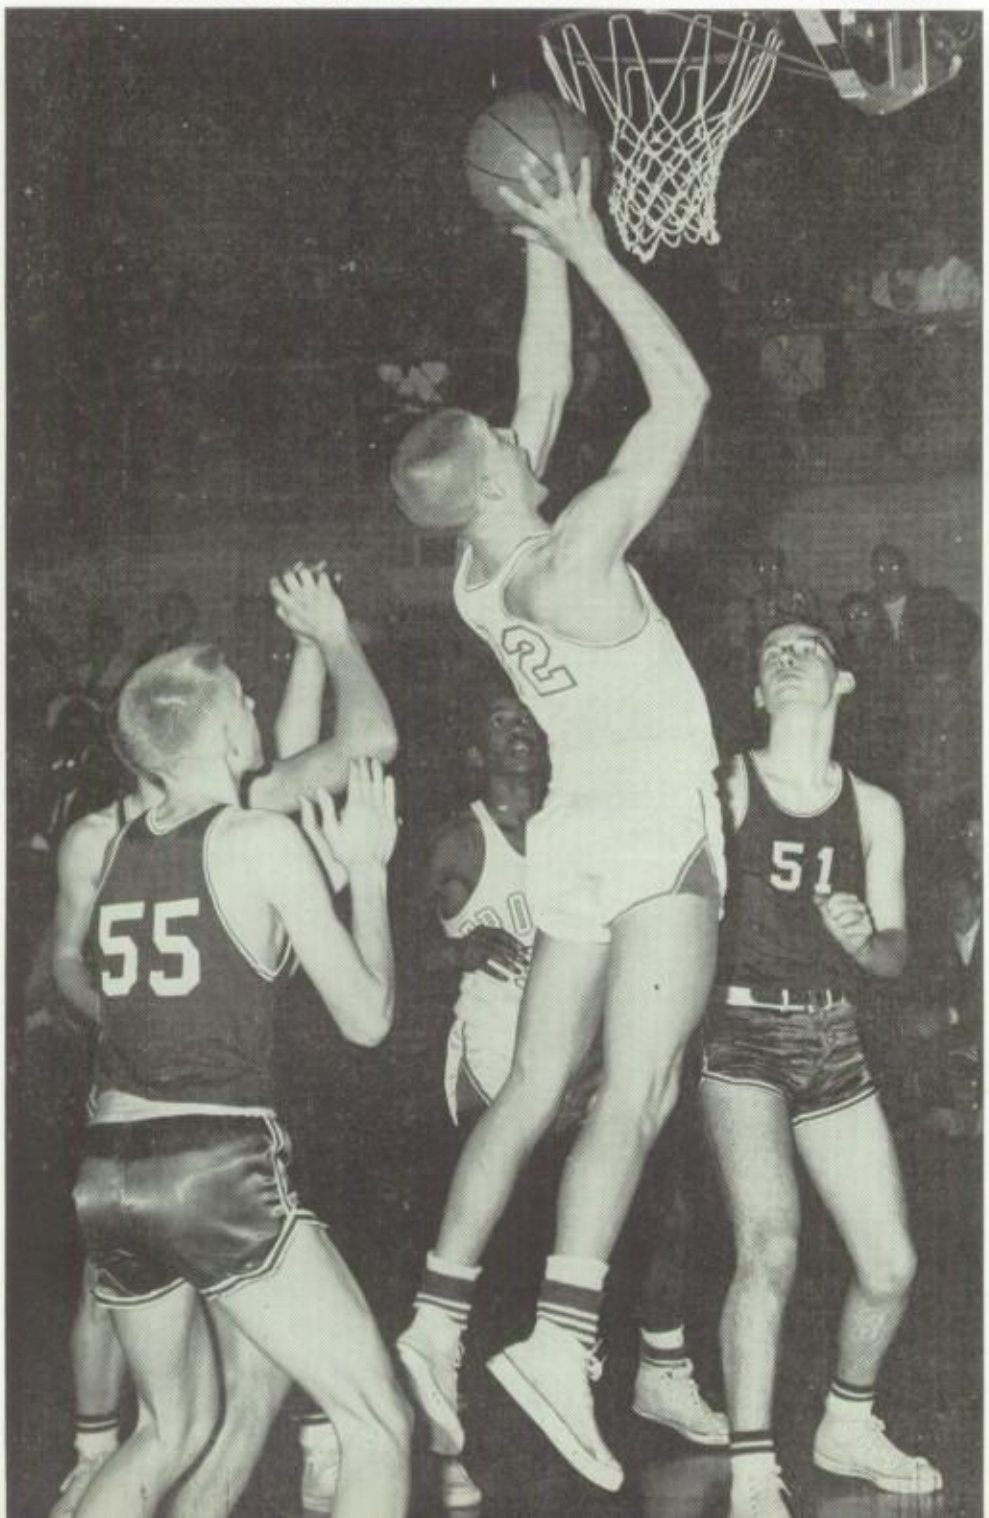
ARNOLD THEDE leaps high into the air in an attempt to add another basket to the sophomore Pirate's score, despite the defending players.



Coach John Tiefenthal's Proviso East Sophomore cagers captured second place in Suburban League competition with a 9-5 record.

After dropping pre-season non-conference games to Elgin and West Aurora, the underclassmen rolled to three straight league victories before falling to Oak Park 44-42.

Midway through the season, the Soph cagers dropped three straight contests before they dumped Highland Park 52-20 and slipped past Oak Park 52-49.

Highlights of the season included the final game victory over Waukegan 48-41 which pulled the Sophomores to a tie with the Bulldogs in league standings.

Oscar Travis led the underclassmen with 186 points on the season, scoring 20 against Niles midway through the season. During the campaign, Al Thede, Mike Barfield, Dennis Yates, Terry Fippinger, and Mike Murphy saw service.

Proviso's Junior Varsity and Freshman cage squads ran up a combined total of 22 wins and only four losses for the 1959-60 season.

Coach Don Braucher's Jayvees dropped three contests, all by only four points, while picking up 10 victories, including an exciting overtime conquest of Oak Park and a 46-45 win over Evanston.

Bob Grady with 140 points copped the Junior Varsity scoring honors while Morris scored 93 and Helling 83 points.

The freshmen, coached by Mr. Don Green, won 12 straight contests before falling to Waukegan in the season's finale. The Baby Bucs sank 529 points to their opponents' 366. A 36-34 win over New Trier and a 52-18 conquest over Oak Park highlighted the season.

Frosh scoring honors went to John Stinson who chalked up 129 points while Silvester Smith dropped in 115 markers. Leo Howard scored 109 points before moving up to the sophomore quintet later in the season to strengthen that squad.

Buc Trackmen Take Second in League

Buc trackmen surrendered their Suburban League indoor crown to New Trier this year, but not without a struggle. The Pirates remained in contention for the title until the final events of the league meet and then finished a close second.

The Blue-and-White runners combined a fine dual meet record with high finishes in the Evanston and Oak Park relays, as well as the Suburban League Contest.

Hurdler Larry Howard lost only once during the whole indoor season. Jim Carswell consistently placed among the leaders in the dashes as did Noel Goldstein in the shot and Pete Parillo in the broad jump. Dutch Reichs and Bruce Miller provided strength in distance events.

Head coach Rex Griep and his assistants, Ken Murphy, Gordon Busse, Robert Polson, and Don Green, also guided the track squad through a successful outdoor season, highlighted by the Proviso, Waukegan, and Mooseheart relays, and the District, State, and Suburban League meets.

Varsity Baseball Team Finishes Successful Year

Coach John Tiefenthal's varsity diamondmen hoped for a promising 1960 season.

Boosted by Ron Buchanan and Dave Kwiatkowski, two-year varsity veterans, and returning starters, Art Custardo, Tom Grecco, and Carl Brunst, the Pirates hoped to improve on last year's second place Suburban League finish.

Last season the Blue-and-White knocked off York and Glenbard to take the York District tourney. Then the Bucs scored five runs in the eleventh inning to crush Oak Park in the regional opener before smashing Morton 17-4 to take the title. But the Diamondmen fell 3-2 to Maine, the eventual state champs, in their first sectional tilt.

Coach Tom Millikin's pitching staff centered around Dave Kwiatkowski, who had an 11-1 record last year; Carl Brunst, who hurled a no-hitter last season; and Jim Kavanaugh, a speedy left-hander. Dick Wauer, John Abraytis, and Rich Pacelli compelted the staff.

At the seasons onslaught, a fine infield found Buchanan at first, Willie Kucik at second, Custardo at third, and Grecco at shortstop. Outfield mainstays included Steve Bokemier, Cliff Brown, Brunst and Kwiatkowski. Rich Slobodnik and Ed Kusta acted as backstops for the Proviso nine.

The Blue-and-White started the season bouncing Elgin 6-2 and tripping Blue Island 4-1 before falling to LaGrange 9-0 on a wintry day. With ten returning lettermen, the Pirates may hold the league and state titles at season's end.

Netmen, Linkmen Seek First Division

The varsity tennis squad had high hopes of turning in the best record a Proviso team has ever made in the Suburban League. This year's schedule was rough, but with five returning lettermen, Coach Nick Ernest hoped that the team would climb from its seventh-place standing into the first division.

The netmen boasted an all-senior starting team, including last year's varsity singles squad composed of Gary Strodtz, Paul Benisek, and Frank Schaefer. The other two returning lettermen, Gary Brooks and Jake Moelk, along with Tom Seghi and Jim Peck, made up the two doubles teams.

The frosh-soph squad, suffering from the break between East and West, has been in the process of rebuilding. They will vie with the juniors for next year's varsity positions.

A 7-3 victory over Elmwood Park ushered in the start of the 1960 campaign for Proviso East's varsity golfers.

Last year the varsity linkmen retained a somewhat dismal 1-7-2 season record. The only victory came in the first meet of the year against York. In Suburban League competition, the varsity finished with an 0-5-1 record.

With three returning lettermen plus other experienced players, Coach Lloyd Lundberg's squad looked forward to an outstanding year, perhaps the best ever attained by a Pirate

Golfers competed in 12 dual meets, the Suburban League meet, and a district meet, followed by the State Meet. Aside from the seven-game conference slate four non-league matches remained. These are to be played against York, Elmwood Park again, Riverside-Brookfield, and Joliet.

Pirate Cheerleaders Win Honors in State Tourney

Rating the top honors in the state tournament, Proviso East's cheerleaders won the 1960 Elite Eight cheerleading trophy at Huff Gymnasium in Champaign. Marlene Fioramonti was named to the all-star cheerleading team.

Cheerleaders were rated on the basis of style, ability, appearance, outward personality, and expertness in management of the cheering section.

Serving as the nucleus of school spirit, the cheerleaders perform the traditional cheers with vigor. Under the direction of Mrs. Marilyn Hiskett, they practice hard to add a spark to Proviso and its athletics.

Girls interested in cheerleading try out in the spring of their freshman or sophomore years. They begin a six-week training program in which they learn the cheers and motions. If they make the squad, the girls continue to work during the coming summer to prepare for the season ahead.

Throughout the year the cheerleaders attend regular practice clinics to acquire ideas for cheers, routines, and pep assemblies. Last summer Proviso's cheerleaders attended a national clinic in Michigan, and walked off with the first place All American trophy while competing against 49 other squads from 13 states. Next November Proviso will be host to a cheerleading clinic.

Cheerleaders work together with the Racket Squad to promote school enthusiasm. The Racket Squad provides the backbone of Proviso's cheering section at all games. Miss Sandra Stein directs the work of the Proviso Racket Squad.

GAA Offers Sports, Social Program for Girl Athletes

Sporting a wide calendar of social, athletic, and service activities, East's Girls' Athletic Association provides an opportunity for girls to develop on three planes of endeavor.

Socially, GAAers took part in the Freshman Funday and frolicked at the Splash Party. Halloween brought ghosts and goblins along with the GAA Halloween party. The Christmas Party added another gay note to the measures of Christmas cheer.

Especially appropriate during Leap Year, the Turnabout Dance gave the female athletes a chance to use their tennis shoes in a different type of race. Moms and daughters became better acquainted over cups of tea and then got together to pack lunches for the GAA picnic.

Athletically, girls took part in swimming, modern dance, tennis, archery, bowling, life-saving, and speed-away as Miss Dolores Madsen offered instruction and advice. Keen competition heightened interest in intramural archery, tennis, swim, and basketball shooting.

In the field of service, GAAers introduced incoming students to West's many opportunities at the Eighth-Grade Get-Together. The future freshmen heard speakers from various organizations including GAA, gazed in awe at the lengths of hallways, and left a little better prepared to face that first day and to take full advantage of their high school years.

GAA OFFICERS—SEATED: Carol Stazio, Sue Pitts, and Cynthia Capitani. STANDING: Miss Madsen, adviser, Carmella Palumbo, Ruth Johnson, Janet Yench, and Sharon Genens.

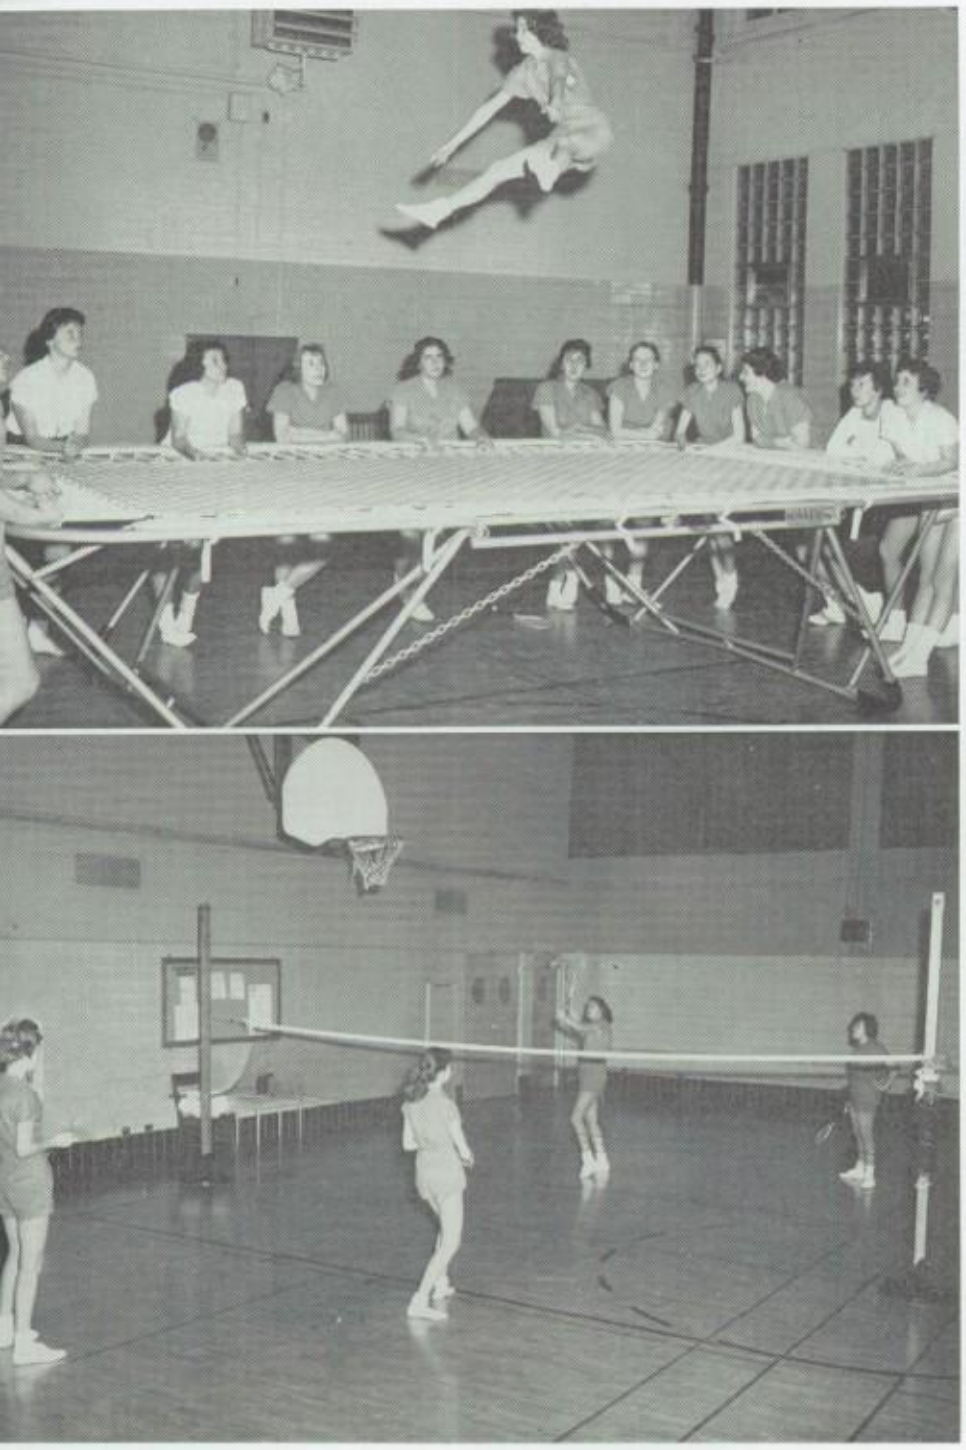
Intramurals, Fundays, Get-to-gethers Spice Fun

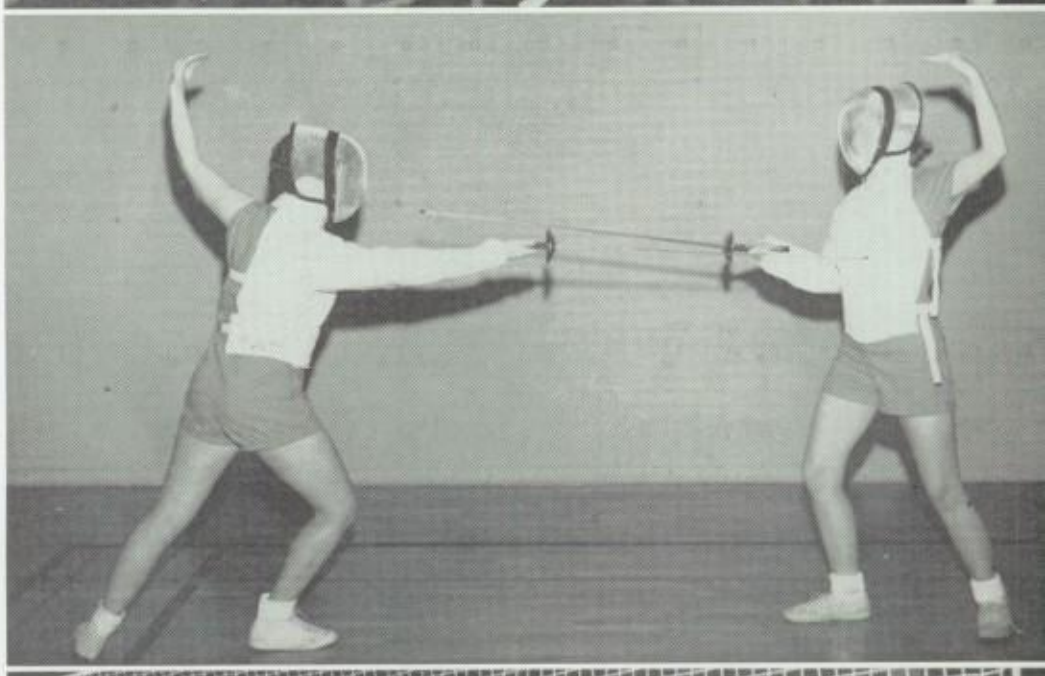
GAA offers individual as well as team sports at all levels. Faculty members of the Girls' Physical Education department and the Student Managers instruct the girls during after-school activities which include volleyball, basketball, softball, tennis, modern dance, archery, golf, swim, life-saving, tumbling, fencing, and trampoline.

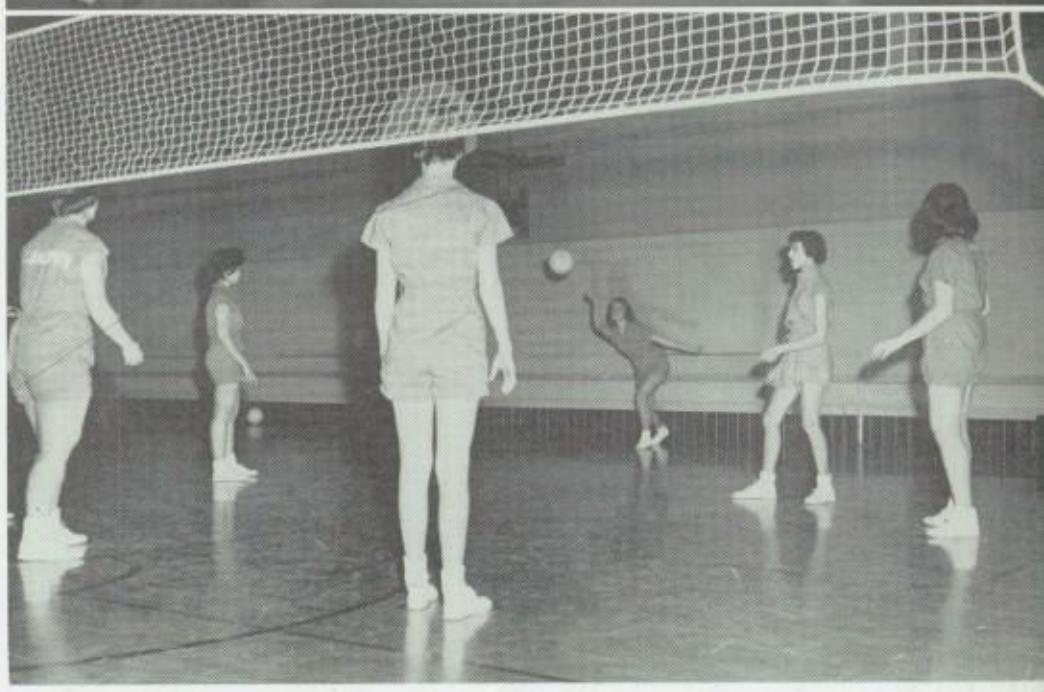
To become an active member, a girl must earn 24 points. Each activity hour counts as two points. Manager training prepares girls to officiate at games, take attendance, organize drill routines, and analyze skills of girls in the program. Club pins are awarded to girls earning 24 points. Shields go to girls with 150 points and a school letter is given for 225 points. The top award, the state I, is awarded for 300 points.

SHE HAS HIGH hopes! This bouncing GAAer knows that flips, back-flips, and somersaults take skill, agility, and constitution of a kangaroo.

SMASH! Birds fly fast when badminton "pros" step onto courts where gym teachers help GAAers learn difference between drop and a clear.







GET THAT JUMP ball! Female cagers take advantage of GAA after-school sports schedule, as they participate in intramural basketball.

TOUCHE. Fencers work long hours to perfect the grace and skill which they have found necessary for this sport which stems from ballet.

SPIKING OR SERVING, volleyball players demonstrate skill (but not the blisters) which they have developed during hours of practice.

Friendship

Capturing the memories and fun of a Golden Year, Pirates at East hoarded a treasury of friendships. They plundered homerooms, clubs, and classes, searching for booty—friends. Provisoites, through their service and consideration, made friends among the faculty; many emerged with life-long friendships more durable than gold. While the more adventurous Pirates raided organizations and clubs for memories of gay times and friends, the less daring ones quietly stole away with the wealth of friendships in classes and homerooms. Scrapbooks ran rampant with pictures and signatures of the captured friends. Students had just begun to fill their treasure chests with thoughts of school chums when time snatched away the year, leaving a host of friends and lasting memories.

Dear Paul,
Well, we've been friends for a long, long time & he's hoping that we'll remain friends for a long, long time to come. We should, if everything works out right. I want to wish you the best of luck in everything & anything you do. Start saving & maybe someday we'll make it to California or Bust, Right? Right, It's "California or Bust" Right?
Good luck again,
Love
Laughter & Wish

Freshmen Learn

Hurled into the fast pace of the fiftieth year, the Class of '63 entered Proviso East on September 8. Big Sisters acquainted puzzled frosh with the maze of halls during the first week.

Early in the year frosh enjoyed an assembly, "South of the Border," presented by Adam Shaffer, a photographer and lecturer.

New practices initiated in elections limited the number of candidates to two per office, intensified competition, and allowed candidates to campaign with a limited budget.

Sophomores

Sophomore Suit Day brought early recognition to the Class of '62. On Octotber 30, 90 per cent of the sophomore boys carried out this self-initiated project which stemmed from counseling class discussions on good grooming.

At the annual party, "Starlight," held on December 12 in Memorial Hall, a snowy ski lodge and Christmas tree formed the basis of the decorations. A roving photographer snapped Polaroid pictures of sophomores posing with Santa.

Bright bronze, silver, and gold medals with the initials PEHS inspired sophomores during the Scholarship and Awards Assembly on April 6.

Juniors Dig

Arguing over guests at the Junior Ball, discussing the possibility of getting rings early, and reporting to their homerooms kept the Junior Council busy. The council, formed from class officers, homeroom representatives, and the adviser, Mr. Edison Kochenderfer, directed junior activities.

At the Junior Ball, "Rhapsody in Blue," on November 14, soft blue lights accented the musical symbols on the fieldhouse walls while a star-studded cloud floated over the band of Lane Emery.

White dominated the girl's formal gowns, while the boys sported black tuxedoes. Two vocalists, an accordianist, and Scottish dancers highlighted the entertainment.

The junior assembly on February 18 featured a slide talk by Dr. and Mrs. Theodore Banks, entitled "Scientific Adventures Far Afield." In anticipation of their senior year, the juniors ordered their class rings in April.

Seniors Become Anniversary Class

SENIOR CLASS OFFICERS—SEATED: Karen Schoeneck, secretary; Jake Moelk, president; and Mr. Loren Reynard, sponsor. STANDING: Pat Fischer, treasurer; and Mary Ann Dabey, vice-president.

Bubbling with the anticipation and excitement of graduation, the Class of '60 voted for a number of changes. By selecting gold and white class colors early in the fall, the seniors harmonized their color scheme with Proviso's Golden Year. Breaking tradition, they will don royal blue gowns with blue-and-white tasseled caps for the first time. However, the biggest break in tradition came when seniors voted to hold commencement outdoors in the stadium.

Activities of the year were frequently tinged with a touch of sentiment as seniors enjoyed their last homecoming, basketball game, or Charity and Bow Week festivities. In February an assembly lured the adventure-minded to unexplored regions in the Arctic Circle. Organizations held farewell parties for senior members and class elections no longer nominated senior office-seekers. The year was rapidly drawing to an end, and thoughts turned to college and jobs.

Boasting quality as well as quantity, some of Proviso's 1109 seniors achieved national recognition in scholarship competition. Six National Merit Finalists gained highest awards while 30 received letters of commendation. Fifty-four students became semi-finalists in Illinois state competition. NHS offered scholarship aid to two of its members.

When the excitement of finals and graduation had really subsided, seniors found their class motto had a two-fold meaning. "We have crossed the bay; the ocean lies before us," symbolized, not only the passing of their high school career and with it adolescence but also the closing of an era in Proviso's history. While the class members looked forward to enriching their lives, their alma mater began another fifty years of even greater expansion for Proviso East and West.

Personal achievements of seniors added to the class's prestige. Patsy and Nancy Kochenderfer shared double honors as the DAR winners. Dawn Muelenhaupt ranked as Proviso's Future Homemaker in the Betty Crocker contest. Joann Banthin and Marianne Stryjewski won nation-wide recognition from National Council of Teachers of English.

Bits of chiffon and organdy, the scent of magnolias, and soft music took these same seniors to the magical wonder of a Colonial atmosphere. Whirling to the music of Frankie Masters' recording band, dreamy-eyed seniors danced from 9-to-12 unaware of the fleeting time. Then at the enchanted hour, many hurried from Proviso West's "Southern mansion" to a round of town activities, breakfast, and picnics. They returned home to dream of their gay Senior Prom.

Proviso West Principal

With an uncanny grasp for details, Mr. Edward Stubbs, Assistant Superintendent and Principal at Proviso West, knows all the ins and outs of the new school.

Mr. Stubbs holds an AB degree from Ohio Wesleyan and an MA degree from Ohio State University. Before going to West, he was chairman of the Social Studies Department, and for many years, Director of Adult Education at East.

As member of the National Education Association study group, Mr. Stubbs journeyed to Louisville, Kentucky, in January. This regional conference met to study improvement of the quality of secondary school education.

In addition, Mr. Stubbs is a member of the Superintendents' Round Table of Northern Illinois, both the National and Illinois Associations of Secondary School Principals, and the West Suburban Superintendents' Association.

PROVISO WEST principal, Edward Stubbs sits at his desk and checks over the details.

With a smile of satisfaction, Mr. Stubbs remarks, "I have been particularly pleased that Proviso West has become a well established school so rapidly. Traditions and customs leading to good school behavior have already been made a definite part of the school. Both the faculty and the students now exhibit a keen sense of belonging. It is indeed a pleasure to work with such people at West."

BEHIND THE COUNTER, Mr. Stubbs listens to the other side of student and faculty problems.

LEADER of the student body, Mr. Hubert A. Pitt enforces rules and regulations as part of his job as Dean of Students.

MR. VALLICELLI, working as Assistant Chairman of Counseling and Administrative Assistant, does double duty at West.

Administrative Assistant

Have a problem? Mr. Hubert Pitt, Dean of Students at West, handles disciplinary problems. He performed a pleasanter job when he narrated a film by the National Association of Student Councils. Just recently the Illinois branch voted him one of 14 outstanding leaders of students. He holds a BE from Western Illinois University and an MA from Northwestern.

Last year Mr. Pitt carried a double load by serving as Administrative Assistant as well as Dean. This year Mr. Arthur Vallicelli took on the Administrative job, which includes supervising enrollment, main office, and IBM machines. Mr. Vallicelli also holds his previous office as Assistant Chairman of the Counseling Department. He has a BS from Eastern Illinois and an MS from Northwestern.

Thirteen is a lucky number for the thirteen secretaries of the secretarial pool. Mrs. Jeanne Burren, secretary to Mr. Stubbs, is in charge of this group. They act as information sources by answering student inquiries, and operate the IBM machines. Other duties include handling communications by phone, typewritten letters, daily bulletins.

Cooks, Maintenance Men Operate West Services

West's modern cafeteria still has the brand-new look it had last year. The twenty cafeteria workers cook full meals for an ever-growing student body, as well as preparing supplementary dishes for several hundred others every day.

With the buildings and grounds nearly completed, the task which now confronts the Maintenance Department at Proviso West centers on the upkeep. The crew of 20 men maintains the newness of this modern structure.

West Faculty Expands With School Growth

Attracted by shining new facilities, several teachers have joined the West teaching staff during the last year. The 107 teachers now boast 66 masters degrees and a doctor's degree.

In their second year at West, teachers continue to improve and expand the curriculum through individual and committee work. Miss Kay Smith joined the faculty in midyear to teach in the girls' physical education department.

A TEACHER'S WORK is never done, after school conferences and meetings they tote home papers nightly, hoping to get caught up.

WOMEN TEACHERS take advantage of lounge facilities to relax over cups of tea and catch up on papers during their lunch hours.

MATH HEADS start early to discuss their problems with the testing director.

THESE TEACHERS should receive vitamins as well as quick energy, if the milk cartons on their table are any indication of health.

English Stresses Communication Skills

The West English Department aims to develop the growth of each student in the more mature use of the English language. To develop a student in the field of reading, the department aims to increase his ability to judge what he reads and to enrich his interpretation of literature.

Listening gives students an opportunity to recognize the organization of a speech and to relate the information to experience, while speaking gives him skill in expressing himself clearly. To develop a student's ability to present his ideas effectively and rationally, writing is stressed at all levels.

Department Adds Six New Courses

Adding Junior English courses this year, the West English department expanded to 18 teachers, teaching a total of 17 different courses.

Six new classes were added to the curriculum. Subjects included American literature, creative writing, dramatics, public speaking, functional and secretarial English.

With the entire student body enrolled in some type of English class the department now offers regular, remedial, superior and experimental honors divisions in English 1 and II, American literature and public speaking — the basic for the three years. News writing courses expanded this year.

Spotlighting a new means of communication, the English department emphasized the use of tape recordings. Outstanding radio and television programs were taped and used as aids to student comprehension and to appreciation.

Since seniors will be added to West next year, proposed additions to the curriculum will include College Preparatory English, English IV, and Modified English.

Another step toward improving the efficiency of the department was a survey and study of staff utilization through team teaching. The department plans to experiment with this new method of teaching in several areas of English next year.

X and Y Puzzle Math Students

Proviso West's Mathematics Department inspires clear thinking and effective reasoning through its courses. Freshmen get their first peek at high school math in the sometimes puzzling forms of X and Y. Sophomores venture into the world of parallelograms and trapezoids. Exploring dimensions leaves them with questions about the fourth dimension.

Third year students again meet X and Y in more involved structures. This wide field of math opens passages along college levels.

Next year Proviso West's Mathematics Department will become complete with its first senior classes. The 10 full-time teachers and one part-time teacher now have a busy schedule working with about 1500 young mathematicians. Helping to give students a firm mathematical background, teachers are using a new text book for algebra, prepared by the Mathematics Study Group under the sponsorship of the National Service Foundation, for the first time this year.

In addition to their mathematical work, West's teachers keep active through membership in the Men's Mathematics Club of Chicago and the Mathematical Club of the Chicago area. Mr. Widicus serves on the program committee and Mr. Kent is the recording secretary of the men's group.

Odors Fail to Daunt West Scientists

As the technological race with Russia goes on, the pressure remains on science. Preparing students to meet the challenges of this race, West keeps pace with curriculum changes by adding geology in the second semester this year. Physics and advanced biology will take their places in the science curriculum at the beginning of next year. Twelve teachers now instruct 1400 students in general science, biology, geology, and chemistry.

Several organizations promote special interests in the field of science. Experimental science enjoys priority in the Science Club. Under the direction of Mr. Haas and Mr. Slimmer, the Science Club members delve into both the obscurities and basic principles of science. Mr. Keil and Mr. Sanborn supervise the Camera Club as the "shutterbugs" delight in learning and sharing the secrets of their art. Space travel and rockets come within the scope of the Astronomy Club advised by Mr. Becker. Helping fellow "hams" learn about transmitting, Dr. Appleton manages the Radio Club.

Language Students Hold Highbrow Culture Days

Bullfights in Spain, the Forum in Rome, Montmartre in Paris—does this seem like the itinerary of a world tour? Actually it describes Culture Day, an experiment in language education at West. In this program, language classes devote one day a week to viewing films in order to become familiar with the language and customs of a country.

Carrying the theory of making language study more vivid a step further, the classes themselves plan the exhibits for bulletin boards and the language display case.

Along with enjoyment, the language department offers excellent courses to the 750 students enrolled. Students may now choose from three years of Latin or Spanish or two years of French or German and commute to East for Russian.

Social Studies Expands, Offers Twelve Courses

Know the difference between a meridian and the Mediterranean? Students in West's first course in geography soon learned this as the Social Studies Department rounded out its list of courses to an even dozen. They plan to make it a baker's dozen when they add Contemporary Affairs for seniors next year.

With an enrollment of 840 students and seven teachers, the department provides an equivalent of four complete majors in total courses.

In the department, Miss Berg, Mr. Litster, and Mr. Wright earned master's degrees from the University of Illinois, Northwestern University, and Southern Illinois University.

Mr. Litster contributed a continental flair after taking a trip to Europe where he spent most of his time visiting museums and cathedrals in Italy, Germany, France, the Netherlands, Greece, and England. These experiences broadened his background and made him a more valuable teacher.

Girls Learn Homemaking Skills, Entertaining Arts

Shopping for a family, recognizing cuts of meat, tailoring clothes—these represent only a few of the skills taught in the Home Economics department. Preparing girls to manage homes of their own, this department now instructs 360 in various phases of homemaking.

In foods classes, girls learn to use kitchen equipment in the preparation and serving of a wide variety of foods. Learning the art of entertaining, the girls managed the Faculty Tea held this year in the Home Economics department.

Watching films about the construction of fibers and the testing of materials, girls begin clothing with a study of textiles. Their first actual sewing projects consist of tailored blouses and skirts. Later they construct more advanced garments such as suits, coats, and afternoon dresses. Clothing enables students to plan practical and attractive wardrobes for all occasions.

LOVELY FURNISHINGS inspire West Home Economics students to create the atmosphere of gracious living they will want in their homes.

Industrial Department Keeps Pace

Following in the footsteps of the East department, West's industrial arts department offers superior up-to-the-minute courses. The department trains the printers, auto mechanics, machinists, draftsmen, woodworkers, and electricians.

After gaining an exploratory knowledge of the course as a freshman, a boy spends the remaining three years specializing in a field which interests him. If cars are his mania, he may select auto shop as his major and work on motors, generators, and brakes with equipment acquired last summer.

A student who chooses machine shop will use such equipment as lathes, vertical and horizontal milling machines, and heat treating facilities. He spends his time constructing machines for himself and for the department.

Next year advanced courses in machine shop and woodworking will join the curriculum. The student in machine shop will study making more complex articles such as grinders. In woodworking he will develop skill in using tools to make chests, desks, cabinets, and lawn furniture.

Physical Education Adds Wrestlers' Gymnasium

Splash! Another freshman hits the water — and starts swimming. The Physical Education Department at West offers a year of swim to all freshman girls. In addition, sophomore girls who have been recommended for their swimming ability may take Advanced Swim where they learn water ballet and life-saving. Leotard-clad juniors learn elements of modern dance, while seniors with ability may take Advanced Dance.

Boys at West also undergo a rigorous program, beginning with physical fitness tests and conditioning. They move on to touch football, wrestling, basketball, track and field, aquatics, gymnastics, golf, volleyball, tennis, and badminton. The opening of the new wrestling gym provided welcome space for the grapplers.

Students unable to compete fully in other sports learn golf, archery, shuffleboard, and table tennis in Restricted Gym. In health classes, students unable to compete at all work on classroom projects. Both boys and girls benefit from these special classes.

To supplement the athletic program, the department adds Freshman Hygiene, Driver Education for sophomores, First Aid in the junior year, and Advanced Hygiene for seniors. Under the supervision of Mr. Bernard Skul, students may complete "behind the wheel" training during a study hall.

Students in all courses enjoy the use of new equipment and the fine facilities of the two-year-old school.

Pupils Prepare For Business

COMMERCIAL STUDENTS gain experience in retailing and human relations while working in school store.

Typewriters, adding machines, mimeograph machines, and tape recorders are some of the modern pieces of equipment that help the commercial department prepare students for futures in the business world.

Under the direction of the eight teachers in this department, students learn general business, retailing, secretarial English, stenography, first and second year type and bookkeeping.

The department plans to add two new rooms, one for type and the other for office practice, to meet the needs of an increasing enrollment in the commercial department.

MUSICIANS become models as artists develop talents.

Art and Music Stimulate Creativity

"Twas the night before Christmas, and all through the house . . . " sang the choral groups at their Christmas concert December 13. They gave this concert together with groups from Proviso East and Oak Park high schools.

In addition to a Christmas recital December 18, the band played another concert May 8. Such numbers as "Fanfare and Allegro," "Sea Portrait," and "Bugler in the Night," sparked their repertoire which also included melodies from archaic sixteenth and seventeenth century music.

Taking advantage of the beauty of their campus and nearby area, West art students used these country and city scenes as inspirations for many works.

Studying all phases of art, 120 students enrolled in the department have the benefit of using all new equipment. Guided by two teachers, these students placed entries in various contests this year.

Student creations, ranging from designs to portraits, filled the display cases in the west end of E building.

West Counselors Add College Days

Boasting only six teachers, the counseling staff works hard to advise the entire student body at West. The staff works under department chairman, Mr. Arthur Vallicelli.

Since two clerks have taken over the attendance procedures, the counselors now have mainly advisory duties. In the place of attendance, they gained the responsibility of supervising enrollment. Students now fill out enrollment cards in their counseling classes instead of homerooms.

Counselors' advisory duties include helping students decide their general educational goals. This year West added two College Days arranged by the counseling department. Representatives from small liberal arts colleges and large universities spoke to the college-bound juniors. This enabled students to compare the two types of institutions.

The counseling department has not neglected students who do not plan to continue their education. Next year they will begin a series of occupational conferences. Speakers representing a variety of vocations will tell about their work and answer questions. This will also help the students gain practical advice as well as learn about occupations.

RESEARCH on social conditions in Afghanistan creates no problems for students who have solved the mysteries of card catalogues.

CHECKING TESTS enables this Special Education teacher to check student progress and to recognize the student's weaknesses.

Reading Circle Becomes Attraction of Library

Students looking for a quiet spot to work will find a haven in the library. Two librarians, two secretaries, and 40 student pages help pupils to rummage through magazines, books, and newspapers. The centrally located library has had 2000 books added since its opening last year to help students with essays, reports, and term papers.

Miss Mary Gilham, librarian, who serves on the board of the Illinois Association of School Librarians and taught in the Department of Library Science at the University of Kentucky during the summer of 1959, presides over this circular room.

A circle within a circle, the reading center occupies the middle of the large room. Containing current magazines and the latest books, it serves to interest students in reading.

FROM DATING problems to plans for college, sound advice is always available from the members of West's counseling department.

Class Grows Confident as Frosh Solve

Freshmen quickly lost "that lost look" as the confused mass of details and procedures merged into an orderly plan. The 388 girls quickly appreciated the slight edge in numbers held by the 412 boys. The total was a round 800.

As soon as the frosh became acquainted, they began thinking about electing officers. November brought campaigning to Proviso West for the first time in its short history. In December competition reached its peak as the new class finally went to the polls to select leaders.

Plunging into the year's activities, the new class sponsored an assembly featuring the Serenader's Quartet. Green bows tucked behind ears, wound around buttons, and pinned to pony tails aroused the familiar cry of "Freshie" during Bow Week. Ending the year on a gay note in May, frosh whirled at the class dance, planned by class officers.

COLLECTING RENTAL FEES from West Freshman, Miss Barbara Remley, a freshman hereself, understands all of their perplexing problems.

Sophomores Dance

Social activities for the sophomores started with a dance, Blue Reveries' on October 24. It ended with Surf Board Swing and Hawaiian party on May 7.

Sophomores named committees to plan the year's social program. Gail Greco headed the entertainment committee, and Cathy Dubs and Judy Black were publicity chairmen. Linda O'Connor and Nancy Ebbert headed the social committee. In charge of tickets and check room was Denis Forgue.

Sally Goodwilie and Terry Jocwick planned the fall party. Mr. Walker, the sophomore class sponsor, assisted the class with its activities.

Junior Class

Entering their second year as the "top dog" class at Proviso West, the eager juniors held a coketail party after school in the middle of September.

Under the guidance of their adviser, Mr. Ray Chambers, the junior class planned their prom and the calender of other activities for the year.

Highlights of the year consisted of "Moonlit Melodies" on October 31 and the spring party on March 19. Climaxing the festivities the Junior Prom was the first to be held by a class at Proviso West.

As summer vacation neared, juniors looked forward to being the seniors and the first graduating class of West.

Leadership

Beginning with a spirit of cooperation, the students at West have begun to build traditions. Leadership ability plus the experience gained during West's first year has enabled them to lay a secure foundation for the future. Democratic constitutions and practices compose the framework of the new structure. Student leaders guided the work from cornerstone to cupola, while the entire student body saw that each brick did its part. Receiving their support, leaders were to understand the needs of fellow students. Faculty supervision helped to strengthen the structure with the guidance and wisdom gained through experience. At the end of the year student's turned with satisfaction to their leaders with a vote of thanks.

Council Sales Raise Project Funds

Pennants! Buttons! Pencils! For Sale! West's Student Council members turned salesmen as they helped fill the treasury of the two-year-old organization. Skimming further down the activity list, one might observe that sources of entertainment and interest to students often stemmed from the work of the council's 12 committees.

Attending conventions and sponsoring workshops, members had a chance to share their skills.

Mr. A. R. Jedlicka, adviser, and Mr. Don Wright, assistant, helped the council co-ordinate the efforts of student, faculty, and administration.

Student Council serves West materially by supervising school assemblies and monitoring during lunch periods. In less material ways the council serves by establishing high standards of character, scholarship, and leadership.

"Good night fathers . . ." sang West Girls' League members ending the annual Dad-Daughter Date Night on a sentimental note. To further improve family relations, the girls also treated their mothers to a night out at the Mother-Daughter Banquet in the spring.

Adopting tradition from East's League, members donned bows for Bow Week and shed shoes for the Sock Hop.

To prove that serious work accompanies their fun, the league also undertook several service projects. The 350 members, at the suggestion of Mrs. L. J. Knoeppel, became interested in helping Indians. They collected supplies for the American Indian Center. Some members attended the Suburban Girls' Conferenc with the theme, "Dawn Has Many Faces," held at Oak Park and River Forest High Schools.

Profile Is First Publication at West

EDITORIAL BOARD — SEATED: Miss Joyce Peters, assistant adviser, Mollie Auten, editor-in-chief, and Mr. Arthur Levin, adviser. STANDING: Bill Zeiger, sports editor, Pat Thomas, managing editor, and Heather Trueman, news editor.

Extra! West starts its own newspaper! From one page in East's Pageant, the Profile emerged this year with an average of eight pages, boasting two special issues of 12 and 16 pages each at Christmas.

"You have a head, don't you?" meant a request for a headline to Mr. Arthur Levin, Profile adviser, and Miss Joyce Peters, his assistant.

Searching reporters dug out facts to keep West well-informed. Between issues Profile staff members attended Scholastic Press Guild meetings and writing contests.

The 28 staff members had had some experience on last year's section in the Pageant. They combined work with fun by reading page proofs at evening meetings in their homes.

Typists spent long hours pounding out copy for the staff, while ad salesmen designed and sold inch after inch of ads to local merchants. Editorials and special features called on the resources and imagination of the entire staff. In addition to covering sports for the West paper, Profile's sports staff supplied some copy for the Provi sports section.

Profilers met the Provi staff for the spring potluck which climaxed the annual activities, as the staff ended the suspense by announcing the positions on next year's staff.

Entertain West Students At Concerts, Assemblies

Candlelight halos lent a solemn air to West songsters as they marched to a darkened stage during the Christmas Choral Concert. As well as participating in the Christmas Concert, 225 members took part in a Spring Concert and several assemblies and special programs.

The choir, with 110 members, dominated this group. Under the direction of Mr. Irwin Bell, it partcipated in music festivals with nearby high schools such as Oak Park and Proviso East. A small group of choir members are chosen each year to represent West by singing at clubs and organizations in the township.

Girls' Chorus had 75 members this year. Mr. Bell, its sponsor, chose select members to join ensembles. These ensembles represented the group at music contests.

Boys' Chorus, under Mr. Bell, completed the choral group at West with 70 members. It attended concerts and sang at special assemblies to help prepare its students for more advanced groups.

These three choral groups provide an outlet for West's vocal music talents, develop their vocal abilities, and give members experience with and knowledge of choral music.

Although only in its second year, West's FBLA showed its popularity by surpassing all other Illinois chapters in the collection of dues. Living up to its reputation, this chapter won the honor of planning the program and the photography for the state FBLA convention. Fifteen members attended this activity held in Springfield in February. Delegates also attended the Central Area Conference in Decatur.

Members gained sound advice when Mr. Warren Kinsey, manager of the Caterpillar Tractor Company, addressed the students on "Challenges to Our Future Business Leaders." Mr. William Perkins of the National Cash Register Company demonstrated various machines. The conference also featured parliamentary procedure and future club projects.

FBLA includes much more than conference and convention fun. The responsibility for managing the school store falls on the organization. Selling school supplies gives FBLA members practical experience in retailing. Even more important, this work teaches students how to get along with people.

FTA Examines Teaching as Careers

Attending College Days at Illinois State Normal started off the year for Proviso West Future Teachers. The organization believes that a promising future awaits those who enter the teaching profession. Through meetings on selective recruitment, panels, National Education Association travelogs, and vocational opportunities, it tries to encourage outstanding young men and women to enter a teaching career. Speakers gave information on scholarships offered to those entering teaching. Presenting a realistic picture, the organization informs members about educational problems.

A "baby" chapter, this FTA has only held its charter for two years. The sixty active members, under the direction of Miss Viola Scala and Mr. Raymond Den Adel, participated in ushering at Proviso Township Institute Days. Tutoring other students in the school also became a duty of FTA members. Filling the school Kleenex machines and arranging library exhibits head the list of projects.

A program handbook of the year's events assisted the members in keeping in mind the goals of FTA plus the dates of activities. A tea, FTA dance, and finally the installation of officers highlighted the social calendar.

Nomads, Pages Meet Exotic Topics

You say you can't find the December issue of the Saturday Review? And your English teacher wants you to find a book of old English ballads? And your history teacher wants an essay on the lost continent of Mu? Don't give up.

These are only a few of the problems that occur every day. However, forty Proviso West library pages are on hand to help both faculty and students in such situations. Under the guidance of Miss Gillham and Miss Gustafson, West pages serve the school and learn about the library. In addition to mending and shelving books, checking out reading material, the pages decorate the library for the changing seasons and enjoy various social events during the year.

"The world is your oyster," believe the twenty-five members of the Travel Club. For the second year they gained the experience of armchair traveling through lectures and films.

Beginning the activities in September, a party, "Travelers' Rendezvous," acquainted the students with the organization. Other club programs dealt with modes of travel as well as points of interest.

At a meeting devoted to promoting better understanding of people of all nations, a German refugee spoke on European education. Writing to pen pals in foreign countries also helped them to foster a spirit of internationalism which the organization hopes to promote among all of its members.

Cine Members Welcome Girls for First Time

WEST, Proviso West's radio station, broadcasts over the public address system with the aid of Cine Club members. Besides co-operating in radio work, Cine Club provides an average of five different sound films daily and operates record players and tape recorders.

Breaking age-old traditions, Cine welcomed two girls into the formerly all-male organization. Boys and girls alike enjoyed a pot luck supper, special meetings, and a tour of a projector manufacturing company.

Adviser Henry Walli and the 42 members strive to develop team work, leadership, a better audio-visual department.

Concert Band Aims for Interlochen

Fourteen soloists and ten ensembles entered the district band contest. Represented by Kenneth Jandes, leader of the alto saxophone section, the West band participated in the Illinois All-State Music Activity at Urbana, February 5 and 6. This activity tried to bring together the state's outstanding musicians for an intensive two-day study period. Following the study period, a grand finale concert, played by the members of the All-State musical groups, climaxed these practice sessions.

To send musicians to music camp at Interlochen, Michigan, the band sponsored several projects. Aided by their parents, band members solicited contributions from businesses and individuals. Students chosen on the basis of musical ability received these scholarships at the concert on May 8.

Pep assemblies, parades, and PTA meetings all keep the sixty-two members of the concert band busy. In addition to playing for these, the band also performed at all home games and at two concerts, December 18 and May 8.

The band and ensembles performed at Nixon school for grade school parents and marched in a Memorial Day parade in Westchester. Small ensembles of band members played for various community groups in the Proviso West area.

West Orchestra Presents Classics

Helping musicians to develop talent and West's young orchestra to grow, Miss Donna Zimmerman strives for a valuable musical organization. The fourteen members of the string orchestra, and the orchestra itself, practiced for long but productive hours on such numbers as "Death and the Maiden" by Schubert, "Themes from Hansel and Gretel" by Humperdinck, "Jesu, Priceless Treasure" by Bach, and various seventeenth century dance tunes.

The young orchestra boasts several ensembles including a string quintet and quartet, and a violin-piano-cello trio.

At a concert for the PTA in February, the trio played feature selections. The orchestra also played for the Nixon Band Parents in January. In May the orchestra presented a concert featuring soloists, ensembles, and the string and concert orchestras.

Next year's plans include arrangements for more effective schedules and development of an experienced group.

West Debaters Place in League Meets

Anyone for a mental boxing match? If so, look in on a Forensics meeting at Proviso West. Guaranteed to give one a sharp tongue with which to cross wits with almost anyone, debate involves four main skills: argumentation, rhetoric, logical thinking, and effective speaking.

Under the supervision of Mr. Paul Johnson, Forensics and Debate teams participated in the La Grange Invitational, the Evanston Invitational, the Northern Illinois University Invitational, and the Northwestern University Invitational.

The Debate team won first place in the East Peoria High School Invitational, as well as at Blue Island High School, while the Forensics team placed second at the Thornton Fractional High School Invitational. Forensics and Debate teams also displayed their skill in district and sectional tournaments. To cap the season, the Debate team took third place in the Illinois National Forensic League Tournament.

Dedicated to the proposition that anything right can become wrong if one talks long enough, these teams belong to National Forensics League and Metropolitan Debate Union.

Key Club, Provi Begin New Groups

"Send these players to the Olympics!" Heeding this plea, the newly formed Key Club chose as its first project raising money for the fund to send the United States teams to the Olympic games.

Along with other Key Clubs, this group sold tickets for a charity show on January 30 to collect money for the March of Dimes. Key Clubbers increased the organization's treasury by earning $2.50 each for a day's work from Kiwanis Club members, who sponsor the school organization.

To learn about writing for yearbooks and to gain the experience they will need to put out their own book next year, a West section of the Provi staff was organized this year.

Under the direction of Mr. Richard Emrick and the East staff, the group gathered information for the West sports, activities, faculty, and academic sections. They showed their ability in sales and distribution as students ordered their 1960 Provi's in the fall and received them early in June.

One-Acts Inaugurate West Play Production

West's first all-school production consisted of two one-act plays. "The Happy Journey to Camden and Trenton" by Thornton Wilder, and "Sunday Costs Five Pesos" by Josephine Niggli were presented on October 23 and 24 in the Little Theatre. Directed by Mr. Douglas Poulter, the cast practiced daily for five weeks.

Clad in modern dress, the cast for the Wilder play included Kenneth Turck as the stage manager, Carolyn Prehn as Ma Kirby, Robert Grant as Arthur, Suzanne Ryberg as Caroline, Kenneth Giesaw as Pa Kirby, and Marcia Mueller as Beulah.

Wearing Spanish costumes for the Niggli play, was Richard Gorski as Fidel; Penny Sugg, Berta; Sheila Greathouse, Salome; Donna Pope, Tonia; and Diane Bolton, Celestina.

GAZING AT HER "Glass Menagerie," Laura (Donna Pope) drifts further into her fragile dream world as she plays with her glass animals.

AMANDA, (Penny Sugg) the ever-worried mother, reveals her lack of understanding in her conversations with her son (Richard Szymaniak).

'Glass Menagerie' Makes Debut in Little Theatre

Laura gazed at her tiny glass toys as the raucus circus music drifted farther and farther away . . . Proviso West was presenting "Glass Menagerie," by Tennessee Williams. The play centered around Laura, played by Donna Pope. Crippled while still a child, she had become too fragile for life. She grew more and more like the glass menagerie with which she played as she drifted from reality.

Laura's mother, Amanda, a woman of great but misplaced vitality, sought to find a husband for her daughter. She found a suitor in Jim O'Connor, an average boy who was entirely unsuited to Laura's dreamy nature.

Presented in the Little Theater, the play had a single set — the interior and exterior of an apartment. The narrator spoke at intervals from the fire escape just outside the house.

Mr. Douglas Poulter directed the play and helped with the unusual lighting effects and circus music which accented certain scenes. After the last flurry of preparation, the curtain went up on April 24 and again on April 25 and 26.

"GLASS MENAGERIE" PLAY CAST—Richard Szymaniak as Tom Wingfield, Penny Sugg as Amanda, Donna Pope as Laura, and Tom Novy as Jim O'Connor.

Sportsmanship

The high arch of a football on the kick-off signalled the opening of the sports year at Proviso West. Crowds of shakaroo-waving Westerners greeted every touchdown with unmistakable pleasure. West mermen dived into a full season and came up with second place in the Glenbrook Invitational. On the basketball court, Panthers faced teams in the new Interim League as loyal fans moved in from the snowy football stands. Athletes met the enemy on the side horse, parallel bars, and trampoline as well as on the wrestling mats. "Strike one" and the crack of a bat welcomed the spring season as the diamondmen "talked it up" on the field. Gaining experience in all sports, West looks forward to next year, when, as a full four-year school, it will be on a par with high schools throughout the state of Illinois.

Panthers Finish Season with 3-2 Record

1959 Varsity Football Record

	OPPONENTS	WEST
Prospect - - - - -	26	6
Wheaton - - - - -	26	6
Willowbrook - - - -	19	26
Prospect—(Conference) - - -	7	26
Harlem (Rockford) - - -	12	13
Glenbrook - - - - -	26	7
Leyden East - - - -	6	12
Fenton - - - - -	0	13

Playing many four year schools, the West Panthers found the going quite rough this year. From a hot spell for the first few games, the weather shifted to rain and then to sleet and snow as the season progressed. The Panthers won their first home game to start a varsity tradition.

Proviso West's varsity football Panthers placed fourth in the Interim League standings with a 2-3 record and split even with a 4-4 record for the whole season.

If 13 is an unlucky number, it seems as though 26 is doubly so for the Panthers. Beginning with Mount Prospect, every West defeat was to an opponent's score of 26. To Mount Prospect and Wheaton the scores were 6-26, and in the second Prospect game and to Glenbrook they were 7-26. However, the Panthers managed to get some revenge when they beat Willowbrook 26-19, squeezed through the close-fought Harlem game 13-12, and took advantage of Fenton fumblitis to walk over them 13-0.

The Panther's final conference game with East Leyden broke their three-way tie for fourth, edging out Leyden and Willowbrook. Scoring early in the first quarter, Leyden led until late in the second, when Logan Dugaw scored for the Panthers. With one minute left in the fourth quarter and the score tied 6-6, Dugaw received a Leyden punt on his 49-yard line and pushed to within three feet of the goal. Having 40 seconds left, quarterback Bill Soo plunged through the Leyden line to settle the West victory 12-6.

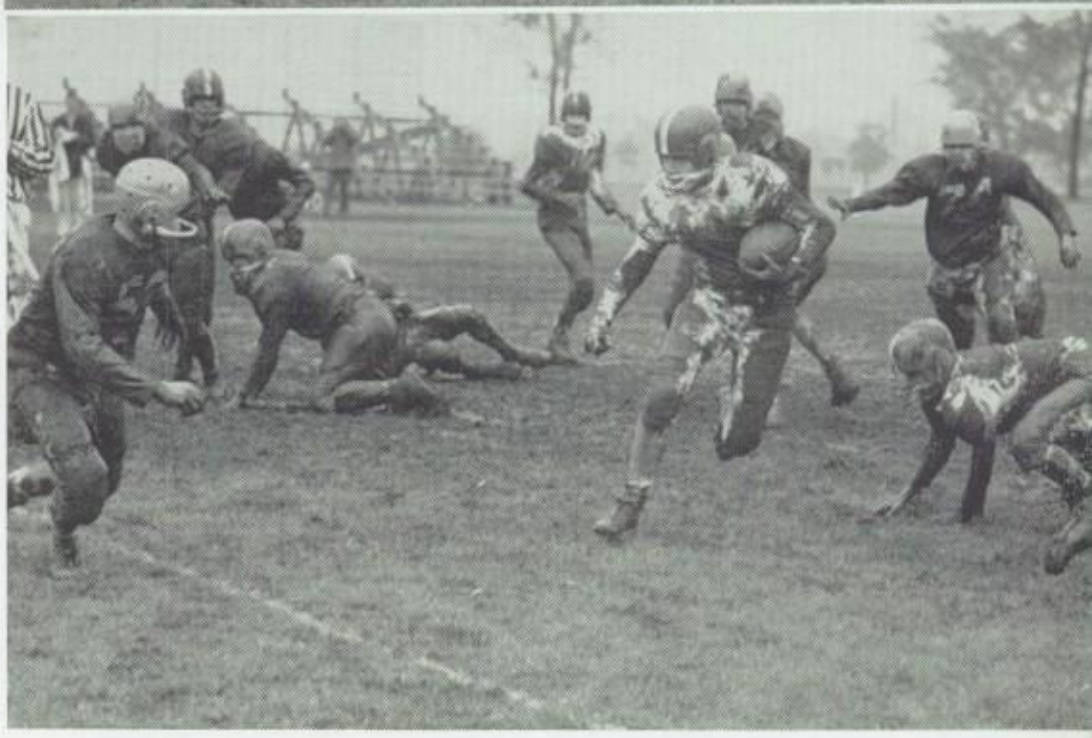
EVADING THE REFEREE, West back Doerzaph runs into more tacklers.

Sophomore Gridmen Are Fourth in Interim League

Proviso West's sophomore football gridmen completed the season tallying a 3-3-2 record to place fourth in the league.

In their opening game, the Panthers shellacked Mount Prospect 20-0; but in a later encounter with them the Cats failed to click and lost 35-21. West's only other defeats came from a 32-7 swamping by Wheaton and a 25-0 crushing by Glenbard East.

Besides their initial victory over Mount Prospect, the Panthers pushed past Leyden East 12-0 and won a hard-fought victory of 13-6 over Fenton. Willowbrook held the Cats to a scoreless 0-0 tie, while Glenbrook intercepted the ball with a minute left in the game and made a 98-yard march down the field to tie the Panthers 7-7 at the gun.



MUD DOESN'T STOP West ground gainers as they evade Mt. Prospect.

Kit Gridders, Thinclads Take Firsts

Proviso West's freshman A football squad recorded an 8-0 record for a perfect 1959 football season.

Led by Tom Cihlar, Don Dressander, Dave Poteet, and Ken Klingberg, the Baby Panthers scored 160 points, an average of 20 points per game, while holding their opponents to 21 points.

Coaches Skul and Wrobke led the unit to eight victories, including shutouts over Prospect, Glenbrook, Glenbard East, and Leyden East and West to give the freshmen a perfect season slate.

Freshman B squad finished with a 2-3 season record.

Having a 7-1 dual meet record, placing second in the St. Charles Invitational, first in the conference meet, and fourth in the district meet, the Proviso West varsity cross-country team racked up one of the most impressive records in the state for a school of only underclassmen. In addition to this, sophomore Barry Peterson placed fourth in district and thirteenth in the state meet at Urbana.

The frosh-soph team came through with its second undefeated season in a row. Beating one of its toughest competitors, Mount Prospect, with a score of 41-20, the team ended the year by taking first place in the conference race.

Gymnastic Squads Finish Season 6-8

Varsity Gymnastics Record

	OPPONENTS	WEST
Maine West	59½	72½
Willowbrook	64	46
Prospect	78	54
Morton	50	82
Hinsdale	54½	77½
Leyden East	89	43
New Trier	76	56
Niles	42	90
York	78	54
Leyden East	79	53
Maine West	50½	81½

Varsity gymnastic squads completed their season winning six meets and losing eight. Twelve lettermen returned from the 1958-1959 season and ten received major letters during this year.

Llewellyn Iffland compiled a total of 168 points, followed by Joe Gaudagnoli, with 158 points, and Robert Laub, with 135 points. All three boys are juniors. On February 5, the varsity compiled its largest score of the season by downing Niles, 90-42.

Mr. Jeffrey Austin, the head varsity coach, commented optimistically, "Since we will not lose a gymnast for two more years, this team could, in a short while, become one of the top teams in the league."

The frosh-soph squad, coached by Mr. Norman Ashcraft, experienced a fair season, finishing with five wins, nine losses and one tie. Their highest score came when they defeated East Leyden 97-45. Thirty-one boys reported for the frosh-soph team. Of these 19 earned their minor letters.

West finished its varsity wrestling season, winning three of its 14 meets. Scoring a draw against Riverside gave them a 3-13 record. Jerry Wastro, West's leading wrestler, contributed the most to the team's scoring while Chet Meyer also completed a good season. In their best meet the Cats beat Prospect 23-14.

The junior-varsity grapplers battled to a 1-7 season. The JV team fought under a handicap, losing many good wrestlers to the varsity, sophomore, and frosh squads. Howie Freeman and Rich Jostes led the Panthers during most of the season.

The sophomore wrestlers finished with a better season than the upperclassmen, winning 7 of their 14 meets. Bob Van Osdell took top honors by scoring more pins and decisions than any other Cat.

Mr. William Wright, sophomore coach, selected the Glenbrook meet, which the Panthers won 25-19, as the best of the season. The soph wrestlers bested Willowbrook by a wider margin, 42-5, in their second meet of the season. The Cats took third place in the Waukegan Tournament, led by Ron Schmidt and John Streit, both of whom took firsts.

Swim Teams Display Promise for Future

Although winning only two of their 14 meets, the Cat mermen, under the direction of Coaches Walt Cryer and Larry Stilwell, showed great promise. They emerged victorious in meets with East Aurora and Waukegan while they fell victims to squads from Morton, East Leyden, Oak Park, Riverside-Brookfield, Niles, Glenbrook, Main West, Elmwood Park, and Hinsdale.

Breaststroker Barry Pava, butterflyer Dale Colosky, and freestylers Ron Couture and Mike Elliot turned in the best times of the year with Pava breaking the old Proviso record. The medley relay team of Joe Kunka, Pava, Colosky, and Couture placed tenth in the state meet.

Featuring the best freshmen swimming team in Proviso West's history, the underclassmen broke almost every team record. Mike Elliot, Ken Hermach, Clark Van Cleve, Bill Dahl, Jim Stark, Russ Martindale, and Bob Venzner led the sophs to a 9-6 record. The frosh finished with a 3-1 record and placed second in the Glenbrook Invitational Meet.

Proviso West's varsity basketball team compiled a 2-8 record in the new Interim Association and gained experience in their first state tournament.

Coach Joe Hartley piloted the varsity cagers, with the help of assistant coach Dean Harshbarger, to a fifth place finish in the Interim League.

JERRY HORD JUMPS for rebounds against taller Geneva opponents.

The Cats played a nineteen game schedule this season. They had a non-conference record of 1-8, a .111 percentage. In ten conference games they compiled a 2-8 record, and over the entire season, a record of 3 wins and 16 losses.

VARSITY BASKETBALL—FRONT ROW: Andrew Hedberg, William Mele, Logan Dugaw, Harold Stott, John Rogala, and Paul Witt. SECOND ROW: David Bangert, Russel McCormick, Allan Lockhart, Don Gust, Al Keller, Ray Conrad, Gerald Beatty, James Donovan, and Walter Simon. The sophomore basketball team received second place in the Interim standings and led the league both defensively and offensively. The Cats scored 455 points and held their opponents to a meager 385.

Coach Walter Sawosko credits Ed Silkaitis, Tom Lester, and Keith Becker as the key men in West's victories. These boys helped the Panthers gain their season conference record of 6 wins and 4 losses.

Four teams fell victims to the Cats, Willowbrook once, Wheaton twice, Glenbrook twice, and East Leyden once. The four losses were by narrow 7-point margins.

Sophs over-all record ended with 9 wins and 10 losses. Participating in the Wheaton Invitational, the team finished the season losing a close game to Aurora West, score 35-31.

Diamondmen Play in State Competition

Mr. Joe Wrobke and his assistant Mr. Ed Gilbert coached Proviso West's first varsity baseball squad through this year's season. The team participated in its first state-championship competition.

In their first game, despite Terry Doerzaph's and Bill Soo's pitching efforts, West allowed Elmwood Park three runs as the Cats tied their opponents 3-3.

The sophomore diamondmen, coached by Mr. Dick Wede, lost to Elmwood Park in the season's first game, score 2-1.

In the 1959 season, the sophomores compiled an 11-12 won-lost record and tied one game.

Ron Weiford and Chuck "Shorty" Keller combined their pitching talents to give the freshman baseball team a 6-3 victory over Elmwood Park.

The freshmen, directed in the 1959 and 1960 seasons by Mr. Leo McClard, had a 4-9 won-lost record.

Golfers, Netmen Launch Varsity Year

Beginning their first season, the Panthers, playing 12 holes, beat Maine West by a score of 9-6.

The team's leading golfer, Mike Heller, shot the best score of 43 and downed his opponent 2-1. Ken Hovorka also won 3-0. Both Kenn Hesterman and Bob Hensen tied 1½-1½. George Hallberg lost 1-2.

The frosh-soph team lost 3½-11½. Craig Frazier, '63, became the only Panther victor, beating his opponent 2-1.

Coached by John Wadsworth, the varsity tennis team participated in its first season of competition this year.

Mr. Walt Cryer coached the frosh-soph tennis team to a fair season. In their first two meets they defeated Morton 3-2 and lost to Maine West 5-0. Tom Wettland, Cliff Egner, and Bruce Nelson were the backbone of the team. Bad weather in the early season was a factor of the tennis poor start. Inexperience also plagued the team , but they improved with every meet.

West Tracksters End Second Season

Coach Maechtle's varsity thinclads faced a rough season in a well-balanced Interim league. In their opening meet of the year with Marshall and Lindbloom of Chicago, the Cats downed both schools by decisive scores; Marshall took second.

The squad consists mainly of members of last year's soph team which compiled a record of 12-1, and a few from the '59 undefeated frosh team. Lack of depth hampered the Cats more than anything else.

Coach Maechtle's boys showed their greatest strength in the distance runs. Aided by members of the league champion cross-country squads, the team boasts a number of fine distance men. Among these, Barney Peterson did most to bolster the squad's scoring in the 800-yard run and mile relay.

Frosh and soph coaches, Jeff Austin and Cliff Corzatt, faced an easier year than the varsity. They added favorably to their perfect record of last year.

Racketeers, Pepsters Back Teams

Both varsity and sophomore cheerleading squads enlivened West crowds with volleys of cheers. At pep assemblies planned by the squads, students met coaches and teams and learned new cheers.

Cheerleaders initiated a program of workshops for successors. Each hopeful had to attend at least four of these workshops and display her skill and enthusiasm.

Under the sponsorship of Miss Prest, the two squads prepared a manual which explained the necessary skills, rules, procedures, and basis for selecting each year's squads.

The groups practiced every Tuesday, Wednesday, and Thursday after school. Here girls perfected their formations.

Do you ever feel like shouting? Members of West's Racket Squad do. Accompanied by the swish of shakeroos, West's loyal cheering section arouses spirit and spurs the Panthers on to victory both at home games and at competition far from the West Quindrangle.

Donning the West red and white, members become vendors of pop, potato chips, hot dogs, pop corn, candy, and shakeroos at all home games. To increase attendance at away games, Racket Squad provides transportation for those who need it. By helping to plan pep assemblies, the squad promotes school spirit throughout the student body; however, their main duty is still shouting their loudest for West.

GAA BOARD OF CONTROLS—ON FLOOR: Sharon Youhn and Kathleen Hays. SEATED: Shirley Loomer, Jill Rouse, Kathy Dubs, Cheryl Kloer, Frances Gille, and Barbara Sciortino. STANDING: Karen Stokes, and Shirley Beccue.

GAA Rounds Mind, Trims Figure

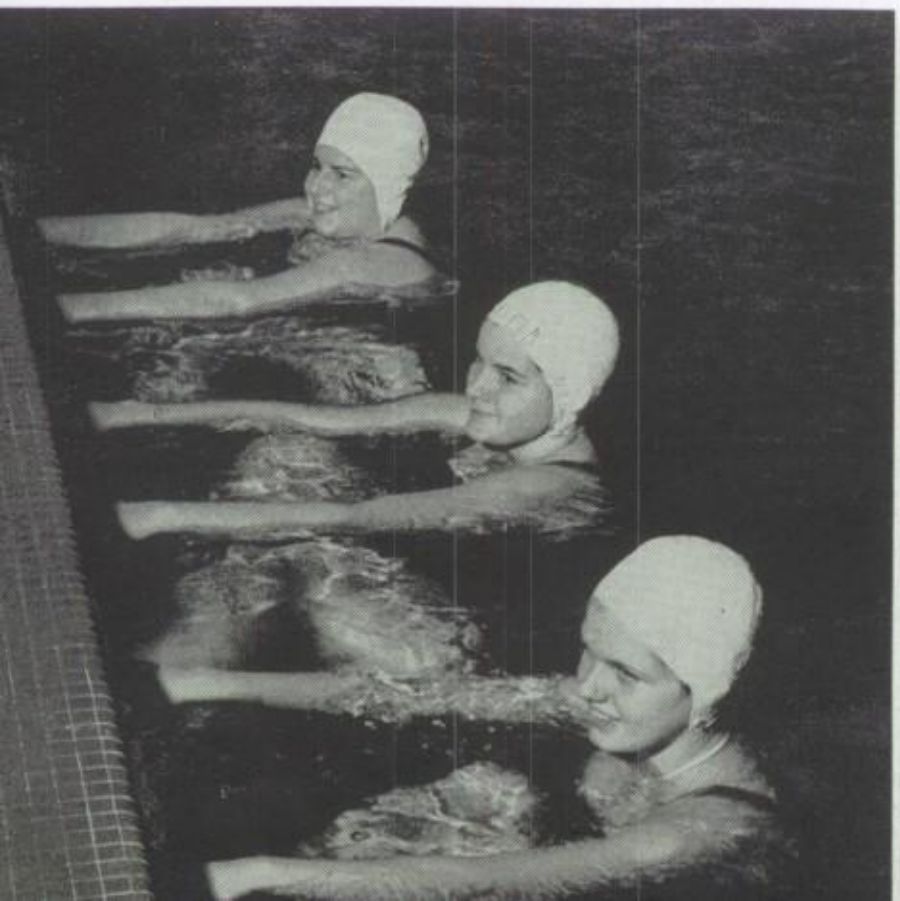
Hoping to develop well-rounded personalities with athletic ability, West GAA sponsors parties, get-togethers, and teas as well as sports activities. Co-ordinating social and athletic skills, GAA'ers, along with their dads, competed in volleyball and relay races at Dad-Daughter Play Nights.

Under the supervision of Miss Jayne Rice the 162 members planned a special Christmas project. They donated money to buy games and cards to entertain the patients of the La Grange Convalescent and Nursing Home.

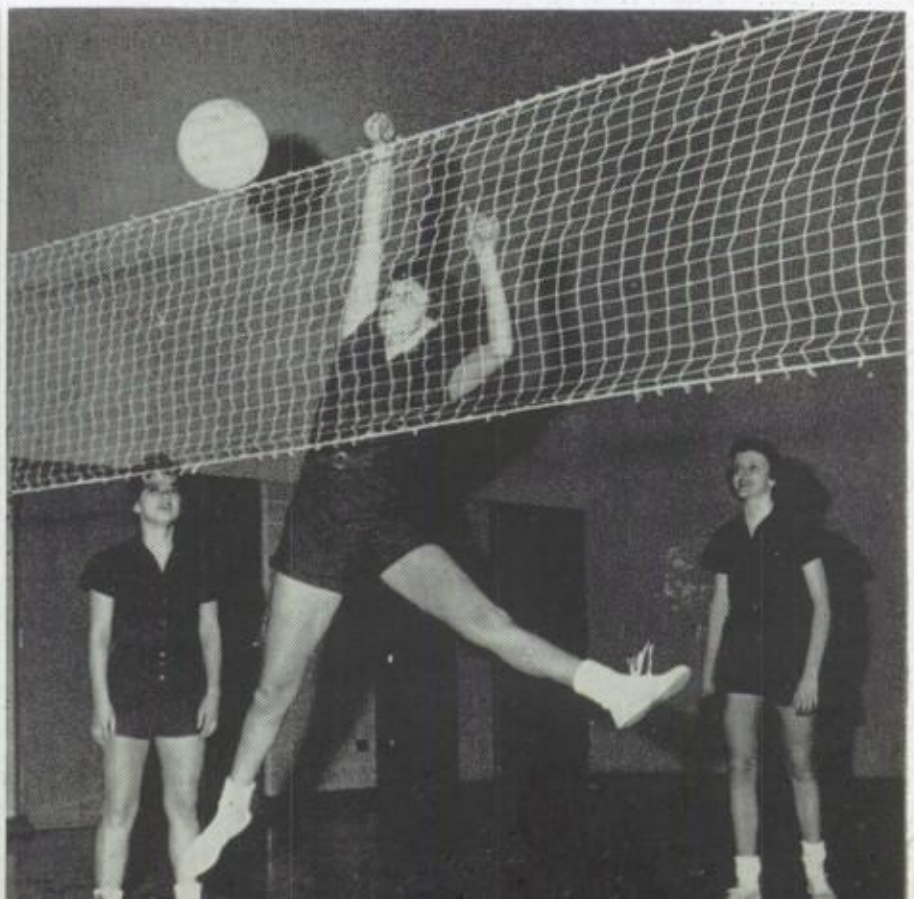
GAA provided a wide program of after-school sports including tennis, swimming, senior lifesaving, volleyball, gymnastics, basketball, badminton and bowling. These activities, which are open to all girls, encourage sportsmanship as well as athletic skill. Girls can also earn points through participation in various after-school sports. A total of 24 points qualifies a girl for active membership. She is eligible for initiation and receives her pin. Seventy-five points qualifies her for the first local award. With 225 points members may wear a map of Illinois.

The Eighth Grade Get-Together in the spring gave GAA girls an opportunity to acquaint next year's freshmen with their activities and goals. The installation of officers and initiation of new members at the Mother-Daughter Tea climaxed the second year's activities for the young group.

GAA—IN POOL: Gerry Elwood, Sandra Stebelton and Nancy Tolomeo.



SPIKING OR SERVING, GAA volleyball girls develop coordination as they gain points toward awards in the winter sports program.



School Mourns Loss of Mrs. LeRoy Knoeppel

We pause to remember Mrs. Alma Knoeppel, wife of Dr. LeRoy J. Knoeppel, superintendent of Proviso Township High Schools. While attending the annual meeting of the American Association of School Administrators in Atlantic City, New Jersey, she died in her sleep on February 17, 1960, apparently of a heart attack.

Through her activity in the P.E.O. Sisterhood, and the Maywood Twentieth-Century Club, Mrs. Knoeppel devoted many hours to community projects. Her interest in the American Indian Society influenced the Girls' League at Proviso West to adopt this society for their annual project.

To all who knew Mrs. Knoeppel, she will be remembered as a genuine lady, full of tenderness, sympathy and love. We will miss her familiar figure standing at her husband's side. Proviso has lost one of its truly gracious ladies.

Ad Infinitum Becomes Finis . . . at Last

We finally got organized!

Suffering from hallucinations and spasmodic chandelier-swinging stages, the '60 Provi staff sent the final page off and collapsed among rejected pictures and cast-off copy. A few days of relaxation soon erased the nightmares of overdue copy, pictures cropped wrong, misspelled names, and those 46 pages of senior pictures that caused the book to bulge with 276 pages. In fact, all that remained were the happy memories of Tuesday night suppers, trips to Washington, D. C., the University of Illinois, and Hate-the-Editor Day.

Our thanks go to Root Studios and Mr. Lenny Novak for putting up with the strange intuitions of our female majority. Mr. Tom Corgan also supplied us with several necessary pictures. Mr. Larry Wells of Capitol Engraving Company deserves a medal as does Mr. Norman Semmelroth of Record Printing and Advertising Company for their patience in dealing with our make-up-your-mind staff. Three cheers for Mr. Bill Snell of the S. K. Smith Company for his marathon endurance while meeting with the staff to hash over our cover problems.

Mr. R. E. Emrick and the Profile staff under the direction of Mr. Arthur Levin supplied much-needed help from West. Miss Eleanor Johnson, Mr. Jack Stanley, and Mr. Nick Ernest gave us those continual prods to keep us going.

Contrary to popular belief, although this is the fiftieth anniversary year, it did not take us fifty years to put the book out even if it did seem nearly that long to most of us!
